

Two Prisoners Have Short Freedom Fling

Pair Recaptured
After Escape From
Brown County Jail

Green Bay — (U) — Two men awaiting trial had only a brief fling at freedom today after escaping from the Brown county jail by forcing open a rear door with a metal rod taken from a shower in the cell area.

The men were apprehended by police after a woman spotted them walking along the railroad tracks. The woman recognized one of the men after hearing a description broadcast on the radio.

Escape Discovered
The escape was discovered at 6 a.m., apparently some 3½ hours after the break. A night watchman at a used car lot was slugged after the escape.

The inmates were: George Madden, 54, Portland, Ore., who was charged with two Brown county burglaries. He was arrested last November when surprised by police in a supermarket at night. His

Publisher in Havana May Fly to Miami

BY RICHARD VALERIANI

Havana — Cuban Publisher Jorge Zayas, whose independent Havana newspaper has been taken over by pro-government newspaper unions, reportedly will fly to Miami, Fla., today as a refugee from Fidel Castro's regime.

A course Zayas close to Zayas said he would make the trip to Havana International airport under the protection of Ecuadorean Ambassador Virgilio Chiriboga.

Chiriboga declined comment on the report. He confirmed that Zayas was in his embassy but said he was a guest.

The publisher went to the embassy after refusing Monday to permit employees of his afternoon Avance to attach "notes of rectification" to news stories and editorials they consider unfair to the government. The notes label objectionable articles as untrue and unethical.

The workers published Monday's edition and established a management council and administrative committee yesterday to continue publishing the paper.

42 Die When Jet Crashes, 16 on Lost U.S. Navy Plane

No Sign of Life Seen In Wreck

BY WEBB MCKINLEY

Ankara, Turkey — (U) — Two planes crashed in Turkey a few hours apart yesterday and all the 58 persons aboard them were believed killed.

Wreckage of a U. S. Navy plane that disappeared with 16 persons on a daylight flight from Rota, Spain, to the U. S. air base at Adana, Turkey, was sighted today on Karanfil (pink) mountain, 15 miles northwest of Adana. Turkish sources said there was no sign of life.

Forty-two persons, all aboard, were lost in the crash of a Scandinavian airlines jet last night on a hill near Ankara, 250 miles to the northwest.

The Ankara disaster was the third crash of a commercial airliner since 1960 began less than three weeks ago. It brought the death toll for commercial aviation this year to 126.

Made Routine Stop
The U. S. Navy plane, a twin-engine P 4M reconnaissance amphibian, made a routine refueling stop yesterday at Naples, Italy, and then took off for Adana.

It was due there at 3:45 p. m. (7:45 a.m. CST). A hunt by air, ground and sea was

Condition of Bevan Causing Much Anxiety

London — (U) — A medical bulletin tonight said the condition of Aneurin Bevan, ailing deputy leader of Britain's labor party, is causing much anxiety.

Bevan underwent abdominal surgery of an undisclosed nature Dec. 19.

The surgeons who operated on the 62-year-old Welshman are specialists in ulcers.

Japanese Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi signed a treaty of mutual security with the United States in Washington Tuesday. President Eisenhower witnessed the signing.

Kishi Pledges Japan to Help for Needy Nations

Prime Minister Has Praise
For New Treaty With U. S.

BY GEOFFREY GOULD

Washington — (U) — Japan's Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi pledged today that his country "is prepared to assume her full share of the burden" of aiding less developed nations.

The free world "cannot live half rich and half poor, half well and half sick, half strong and half weak," he said at a National Press club luncheon.

His pledge supported this country's effort to have its allies—Japan, a nation it defeated in war 15 years ago—join it in an expanded effort to raise living standards in the poorer nations.

"Notwithstanding the great efforts made by the free world thus far, the gap between the economic growth of the highly developed industrial nations and the less-developed countries continues to widen," Kishi said, adding:

Treaty For Peace
"Unfortunately, the newly risen nations in the Afro-Asian area are still unable to achieve their hopes for a better life, in spite of their political zeal."

Kishi paid tribute to a U. S.

Japanese mutual assistance treaty signed yesterday at White House ceremonies that brought Japan to the status of an equal ally with the United States.

"Needless to say, it is a treaty for peace, not for war," he said. "It goes beyond mere cooperation for military defense. Through this treaty, our two countries, as equal and close partners, pledge to cooperate on a broad basis in all fields of their relations for the purpose of establishing and maintaining international peace and stability."

"Peace and progress are the imperatives of history and the cry of mankind," he added.

He praised President Eisenhower for the "firmness of his conviction and the sincerity of his faith in pursuit of this one thing he wants much more."

Sees National Income Of Over $750 Billion By End of This Decade

BY STERLING F. GREEN

Washington — (U) — President Eisenhower today assured congress that America's rising prosperity can go on breaking records through 1960 "and well beyond" if his budget is kept balanced, the debt reduced, and inflation curbed.

In his annual economic report, third and last of the major White House messages each session, Eisenhower foresaw national output vaulting to nearly $750 billion a year by the end of the 1960s.

That would be half again as great as the $500 billion production peak in sight this year. The hazards that threaten this golden goal—inflation and speculation, hastening the onset of recessions—can be overcome, Eisenhower said, by a resolute effort of the government and the public to:

1. Restore an economy in which price reductions, as well as price increases, are "normal and frequent."
2. Build a "well-informed and vigilant public opinion" that will resist the attempts of business or labor "arbitrarily to establish prices or wages that are inconsistent with the general welfare."
3. Achieve a sizable budget surplus and devote it wholly to reducing the $290 billion federal debt. His fiscal 1961 budget, sent to congress Monday, forecasts a $4,200,000,000 surplus.

The president gave only one other legislative proposal equal priority. He called urgently—for the fourth time

Accident Victim Lies Unconscious 4 Hours in Wreck

A Combined Locks man, James L. Bieritz, 24, of 611 Karlyn street, lay unconscious nearly four hours in the wreck of his small foreign-made car before coming to and getting aid Tuesday morning.

Bieritz was traveling east on County Trunk KK a mile and a half west of Darboy at 12:30 a.m. Tuesday when his car ran off the road, rolled over and struck a tree. He suffered head bruises, a dislocated jaw and complained of pains in both legs and his right hand.

Bieritz told Calumet County Traffic Policeman Irvin Vice he remembered his car starting to slide and leaving the road. Bieritz went to a nearby farmhouse for help when he regained consciousness about 4 a.m.

Eisenhower Starts Last Year in Office

Washington — (U) — President Eisenhower started his eighth and final year in office today. He's looking forward eagerly to private life but there is his faith in pursuit of this one thing he wants much more.

Lawmakers Work on Recess

Resolution Wording
Varies on Time of Return to Madison

Madison — (U) — Party leaders today made attempts at a settlement on language of a recess resolution that would close down Wisconsin's legislature until late spring.

Both parties have generally agreed to a recess this week, and Republican and Democratic sponsored resolutions that would make it possible have been introduced.

The proposals vary a little on dates for reconvening, a lot on what should come before the legislature when it does return.

A Democratic suggestion, introduced in the assembly Tuesday, would free the lawmakers until June 1 and keep the door open to all business when they return.

Executive Sanction

This proposal is known to have the sanction of the executive office.

A Republican proposal would make May 3 the date of return and limit the second recessed session to budget balancing measures, appointments confirmations, and any vetoes that might come up in the interim.

Republicans are solidly opposed to the Democratic proposal.

No Money Found in Wallet of Attorney Dead in Plane Crash

Wilmington, N.C. — (U) — A new note of mystery was injected today into the Jan. 6 crash of a National Airlines plane in which 34 persons were killed.

A wallet found on the body of Connecticut Atty. Julian Andrew Frank was reported to have contained no money. It was said to have yielded only identification cards and an advertisement for shoes.

The lack of money was taken, in some quarters, to mean that Frank had boarded the plane for Miami with no thought of returning.

Sen. A. S. Monroney (D-Okla.), chairman of a senate subcommittee studying the crash, previously had expressed belief that the plane was blown up by a bomb carried by Frank.

However, airline officials in New York have said that their records showed Frank had booked a return trip on the day after the crash.

An investigation has centered on Frank because he recently had insured himself for nearly $800,000.

Surprise Senate Vote

Include Primaries In Election Curbs

Washington — (U) — A senate vote to include primaries under federal election spending controls encouraged supporters to push today for other limitations.

By a surprise 50-39 roll call yesterday, the senate voted yesterday to extend the federal regulation of campaign spending to primaries, caucuses and nominating conventions.

The change was voted in a bill which, like existing law, would have applied only to general elections for federal officials.

The measure, revising the 1925 corrupt practices act, would require more detailed reporting of campaign contributions and expenditures and would raise legal spending limits to reflect increased costs.

May Include Others
Sen. Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., told newsmen he believes an amendment to bring state and local political committees within the bill's reporting requirements now has a chance of adoption despite possible complications. He is sponsoring the amendment.

It would apply to all committees that seek to influence the election of candidates for federal office and that receive or spend $1,000 or more in a year.

Both Hennings and Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.), who teamed up to offer the amendment covering primaries, said the senate approval was a surprise.

Sens. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Texas), the senate majority leader, and Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.), the minority leader, voted against it.

Except for Johnson, all of the Democratic senators regarded as possible presidential nominees this year either voted for the amendment or were recorded in support of it.

Altogether, 34 Democratic senators and 16 Republicans voted for the amendment. Voting against it were 21 Democrats, mostly southerners, and 18 Republicans. Both Wisconsin senators supported the change.

Accused of $4,800,000 Theft in Firm's Shares

Montreal — (U) — John C. Doyle, president of Canadian Javelin, Ltd., has been arrested and charged with theft of company shares valued at $4,800,000.

Prosecutor Rene Gauthier announced today the charges were lodged by stockholders of the company, which is engaged principally in iron ore explorations in Labrador and Quebec.

Bond was fixed at $100,000, but Doyle was unable to meet it yesterday and was jailed overnight.

The company, whose head office is in St. John's, Newfoundland, has executive offices in New York.

Regents Scored For Opposition To Affidavit

Madison — (U) — A resolution criticizing the University of Wisconsin board of regents for opposing a federal loyalty affidavit was pushed in the assembly today.

The resolution, introduced and sent to committee, was written by 18 Republicans. A motion by Hugh Harper, R-Lancaster, to suspend the rules and consider it immediately fell far short of the two-thirds vote required.

Harper, a Wisconsin graduate, contended the regents had been misguided by faculty recommendations.

Gets 10-Year Sentence For Trying to Rob Bank

Madison — (U) — A 29-year-old father of four children was given a 10-year federal penitentiary sentence today for attempting to rob a bank.

"I'm sorry. . . and I hope someday I have a chance to start right," Edgar J. Withers of rural Wisconsin Rapids, told U.S. Judge Patrick T. Stone.

"I got out, I didn't want to shoot him," Withers told the court. He referred to how he fled empty handed when Jessie L. Judd, president of the Bancroft State bank brandished an unloaded deer rifle to frustrate Withers' effort to hold up the Wood county bank Jan. 5.

Shot Into Floor
Withers had fired a shot from his gun into the floor to impress his intended victims. Three other persons were in the bank.

Withers admitted the charge of attempted bank robbery with use of a firearm. He said he had a .22 caliber revolver that once belonged to a brother.

Withers could not say definitely what caused him to attempt the robbery, adding "I was not getting along good with my wife."

Withers, tall and slim and wearing a light jacket tucked into blue work jeans, told the court he had served a reformatory sentence in Wisconsin for check forgery and at the time of the bank holdup effort was on parole or non-support. He had recently worked as a laborer on a construction job in Nekeosha.

Most of the money he earned recently, he said, went to pay bills and buy groceries for his family living in a two-

County Jail Escapees Roger Dury, 25, Green Bay, left, and George Madden, 54, Portland, Ore., extreme right, are shown back in custody after five hours of freedom early this morning. Green Bay detective Robert Basche, one of the captors, is in the center. The pair broke out of the Brown county jail by jamming the "bullpen" door in an unlocked position and then forced open a fire escape door on the second floor. Dury slugged a downtown garage watchman during an unsuccessful attempt to steal a car.

Ship Capsizes, Another Missing in Blizzard

London — (U) — A Dutch coastal vessel capsized and a German freighter was missing today in blizzard and hurricane force winds whipping the North sea and the northern half of the British Isles.

The 195-ton Dutch coaster Bermuda sank near the Hook of Holland, the Norwegian radio at Stavanger reported. The number aboard was not learned.

Train Stranded
Five ships of three nations searched the raging North sea for the 871-ton German freighter Lubesand with 12 men on board. The Lubesand radioed a desperate call for help last midnight and had not been heard from since.

Her last report said her hatches were broken and water was pouring into the hold. The blizzard buried northern England and Scotland under ice and snow, marooning scores of villages and leaving at least one person frozen to death in a snowdrift.

Thirty-five passengers were stranded over night aboard a passenger train one mile from Aberdeen. They finally were reached by a relief train.

Half a dozen other trains in Scotland were cut off for several hours.

In Aberdeenshire, police searched for a shepherd's daughter, 14-year-old Elizabeth Lawson, who disappeared last night during a 11-mile trudge from school. Other search parties were looking for 42-year-old Herbert Neill, missing on a hiking tour.

Stumbling through the blizzard, Dr. Barbara Moore, 56, year-old dietician, was still trying to prove that simple living and frugal diet can sustain even a middle-aged woman on a 1,000-mile hike from end to end of Britain.

She had covered over 300 miles from John O'Groats, her starting point, after collapsing in the snow three times last night.

See GOP Contest For Governorship

Wisconsin Dells Businessman Jack Olson Seriously Thinking Of Seeking Party Nomination

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison—A contest for the Republican nomination for the governorship, the first in a decade, is shaping up rapidly. Jack Olson, 40-year-old Wisconsin Dells businessman, Tuesday told a Republican legislative caucus that he is seriously considering a candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination and that he will probably announce his decision in about 10 days.

Olson's candidacy would put him into competition with Philip Kuehn, a 40-year-old Milwaukee business executive, who made known his ambition 10 days ago.

Olson is best known for his leadership in tourist promotion in his home town.

Fall Election

Olson has told friends and supporters that he does not believe Kuehn can defeat Gov. Gaylord Nelson, Democratic incumbent, in the fall elections, although he concedes that it may be difficult to wrest from him the endorsement of the Republican state convention next spring.

He declined to make a direct reply to inquiries from pro-Kuehn legislators about his plans if he failed to get a convention endorsement.

The Wisconsin Dells businessman is the proprietor of a tourist boat excursion business and is widely known in hotel and resort circles. He has been active in GOP politics in his home district and was for many years the head of the tourist division of the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce.

It has become evident that Olson is the only prospective rival of Kuehn for the party's highest state office nomination. Former Rep. Glenn R. Davis of Waukesha has withdrawn himself from consideration and most politicians doubt that former Gov. Vernon W. Thomson will attempt a comeback.

Thomson Friend

The latter was strengthened Tuesday when Olson was introduced to legislators at a private session by Sen. Jess Miller of Richland Center, who is one of the closest friends of Thomson and who would have refrained from such a friendly testimonial for a prospective rival of the former governor.

Olson's friends have already formed a campaign committee and one of their principal apparent themes is the idea

Kennedy to Play Underdog In Wisconsin

Official Notice Reserved for News Conference Thursday

Washington—(U)—Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) apparently is planning to play the role of underdog in Wisconsin's April 5 Democratic presidential primary.

Kennedy reserved until a news conference in Milwaukee tomorrow an official announcement that he will enter a slate of delegates in a bid for the state's 31 convention votes.

Those close to Kennedy here left little doubt, however, that the decision had been made to take on Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) and any other comers in what is likely to shape up as a vital test of midwestern strength.

Humphrey completed another 2-day visit to the state Tuesday and returned to Washington. But he said he would devote many weekends to further Wisconsin campaigning, and his supporters would continue active.

Uphill Battle

All the signs pointed to a Kennedy campaign based on the contention that he has an uphill battle against Humphrey in what amounts to the latter's side yard. This would be calculated to soften the psychological impact if Kennedy had to divide the delegation with Humphrey.

Robert Kennedy, the candidate's brother, has called the Wisconsin "balloting an 'unfair test.' Kennedy himself has been saying that the state is a tough one for him.

He has been wondering out loud why Humphrey doesn't take him on in New Hampshire's March 8 primary. He has made it clear he would much prefer to demonstrate his farm belt strength in Nebraska's May 10 balloting but Humphrey hasn't indicated whether he would accept this latter challenge.

Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) said he welcomes the prospect that Kennedy and Humphrey will meet in the primary. He said that if both enter, he will not put his name in as a favorite son candidate. He had said he would enter the race if no major contest seemed likely to develop.

Neither Susan Nor Lynn Munson had a birthday but neither could resist putting some candles onto the snow shaped by wind into a replica of an angel food cake. There's even a hole in the middle, thanks to the hole in the patio table on which the snow rests.

Crash Mystifies CAB Investigating Squads

Appears That Plane Dropped Like Elevator in Virginia Swampland

Holdcroft, Va.—(U)—Investigators sought today to pierce the mystery of the crash of a Capital Airlines Viscount which fell from the sky as if a rug had been pulled from beneath it.

All 50 persons aboard perished as the plane plummeted into a swampy ravine near this tidewater Virginia hamlet Monday night in a way that had even veteran crash observers mystified.

There was no evidence along the wooded hillsides leading down to the crash scene to indicate the plane had crashed other than straight down, landing flat on its belly.

Drops Like Rock

No more than six trees—and they were directly over the spot—showed any signs of being hit.

The crash of a Capital Airlines Viscount in Virginia had its effect today on the Wisconsin Sheriffs and Deputy Sheriffs association meeting in Sheboygan.

Slated to speak on disasters and disaster identification was C. Lester Trotter, in charge of the identification division of the federal bureau of investigation's Washington office. Today he is in Virginia, heading a team of experts who are trying to identify the crash victims.

Trotter heads the FBI's division which files and classifies millions of fingerprints.

His talk will be read today by Gerald C. Gearty, special FBI agent in charge of the Milwaukee FBI office.

Kills Couple After Seeing Them Kissing

Hebron, Conn.—(U)—A small pile of twigs lay ready to be lit and the hot dogs that were to be roasted were nearby. A few feet away were the bodies of a man and a woman, torn by shotgun blasts.

That was what state police found Tuesday when they answered a call in this rural town.

The weapon was fired, they said, by Richard Palmer, 39, of Willimantic, a manufacturing city a few miles north-east of Hebron.

One of the victims was Mrs. Helen Younman of Willimantic, a 40-year-old widow whom Palmer had been dating. Beside her lay John Fugedi, 40, also of Willimantic.

They and Palmer had gone to an ice-covered pond for some ice fishing.

Saw Kiss

State police said Palmer told them he left the other two to walk to his nearby car. While there, he said, he saw them kissing. When he came back he had the shotgun.

First to know of the shootings was Clinton Wilson, whose house is near the pond. Palmer came to the door, told of the shootings, and asked to use a telephone.

Instead he left and Wilson made the call to state police.

A short time later, they received another call, this time from Palmer's cousin, Clarence Palmer of Andover, a town just north of Hebron. Richard Palmer was waiting to be picked up, his cousin said.

See Nixon as Next President

State Newsmen Unanimous in Poll Opinion

Milwaukee—(U)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon will be elected president in 1960, in the opinion of a group of Wisconsin newsmen.

His running mate on the Republican ticket will be Secretary of Labor James Mitchell, they believe.

The Democratic ticket they expect, will consist of Adlai E. Stevenson, making his third bid for the White House, and Senator John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, nominee for vice president.

These sentiments were expressed by publishers, editors and news directors of Wisconsin newspapers and radio-TV stations in a poll conducted among members of The Associated Press.

Unanimous Opinion

Participants in the poll were almost unanimously of the opinion that Nixon will win—only two thought that the Stevenson-Kennedy ticket would be victorious.

They listed five possibilities as the nominee for vice president. In addition to Mitchell, there were Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, who has said he is not a candidate for anything; Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois, Health and Welfare Secretary Arthur S. Flemming and Gov. William Stratton of Illinois.

Some who voted in the poll said they hadn't the faintest idea who would be Nixon's running mate.

Former Gov. Stevenson of Illinois, who has always been popular in Wisconsin, received a substantial edge over Sen. Kennedy in the straw vote on the likely Democratic presidential nominee. Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri ran third. Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, an avowed presidential candidate, did not receive a vote.

FBI Agent Sent To Crash Scene

The crash of a Capital Airlines Viscount in Virginia had its effect today on the Wisconsin Sheriffs and Deputy Sheriffs association meeting in Sheboygan.

Slated to speak on disasters and disaster identification was C. Lester Trotter, in charge of the identification division of the federal bureau of investigation's Washington office. Today he is in Virginia, heading a team of experts who are trying to identify the crash victims.

of disfigurement. The 4-engine craft appeared to have impaled itself on two or three of the trees as it crashed.

One observer described the plane's apparent descent as like that of an elevator to the bottom of a shaft. Another said it appeared as if the airliner had run into an invisible wall and dropped like a rock.

Whatever happened, even veteran investigators of Civil Aeronautics board seemed puzzled—though they wouldn't say so officially.

A CAB spokesman said the crash pattern "was a little unusual. It was as if it had been let down by parachute." Wreckage was confined to a small area, roughly resembling the plane's outline.

George A. Van Epps, eastern area supervisor for the CAB and director of the crash investigation, said it was still too early to determine whether the plane was on or off course in foggy, rainy weather.

He said six CAB teams would check different aspects of the crash. Investigation of the wreckage might take two to three weeks, he said, and a hearing will be held in Richmond in from six to eight weeks.

Sheriff Ousted From VFW Post After Raid

Hillsboro, Ill.—(U)—Sheriff Harold Whitten has been ousted as a member of post No. 1036 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Whitten said he received a letter from the post which said he was "an undesirable member" and that his membership had been revoked.

The ouster came after the sheriff led a raid on the post's clubrooms and seized two slot machines. The post paid a $100 fine on gambling charges.

Company Writes Girl's $1,642 Bill Off Books

Fresno, Calif.—(U)—That $1,642 in long distance telephone tolls talked up by 13-year-old Helen Jackson... the company has agreed to forget that.

But Pacific Telephone company officials said Tuesday the padlock will remain on the phone at the Jackson home.

An investigation disclosed Helen made 462 calls to Los Angeles in December, 1958, and charged them to other Fresno numbers. Company Atty. Nathan Guthertz said the girl's widowed mother, Mrs. Myrtle Jackson, admitted the liability but is unable to pay the bill, so the company wrote it off the books.

Mrs. Jackson had padlocked the telephone after she learned of her daughter's many calls.

Prosperity of U. S. Reported By President

Eisenhower Cites Growth of All Groups In Economic Message

Washington—(U)—A growing material prosperity for all groups of Americans was reported today in President Eisenhower's economic message to congress.

Tacked onto the end of his 243-page report were 20 pages of tables picturing the spread of health, wealth and well-being among Americans since World War II.

They pictured progress since 1946 in such diverse matters as these:

Americans now get 77,700,000 weeks of paid vacation each year instead of 34,400,000.

Many Own Cars

Three-fourths of all families own autos instead of a little more than half of the families, and 15 per cent now own two or more cars.

Americans spend $1,760 a piece per year on items for personal consumption, a 20 per cent jump from 1948 after discounting for cheaper dollars.

The year-by-year progress was charted by the president's council of economic advisers, who labeled it: "Appendix C: Statistical tables relating to the diffusion of well-being."

Noted Progress

Eisenhower drew on some portions for his narrative report. Real income, or buying power, per capita has risen nearly 20 per cent since 1946, he said. The increase per family has been 16 per cent.

The president noted "remarkable progress" in the reduction of infant and maternal mortality, the prevention and treatment of many diseases, and the spread of health services and hospital insurance.

He reported progress also in moderating economic booms and busts. He said: "Although economic recessions, however minor, must remain a matter of concern to all Americans, the relative mildness and short duration of the three since the war have to be reckoned as a major factor in the strengthening of personal security."

Asian Flu Strikes Million in Los Angeles

Los Angeles—(U)—Public health agencies estimate at least one million Los Angeles county residents have been stricken by Asian flu during the current outbreak.

Health officials said absenteeism was running about 15 per cent of the working population and 116,000 school children were absent in the city.

Predicts Soviets May Orbit Men Around Earth in Spring

New York—(U)—The Soviet Union may put two men into orbit around the earth this spring—and try to land them safely in the Pacific ocean, a scientist predicted Tuesday night.

Air force Brig. Gen. Don R. Flickinger said he believes the Soviets have solved most of the problems and are waiting until the shot is scientifically expedient.

The recently designated Pacific ocean test area seems the most likely recovery area for such a space capsule, he said in an interview.

He predicted the Soviets will trigger the reentry of their space capsule by radio from a Siberian command station.

With their available rocket power the Russians can put up to a 10,000-pound capsule in orbit—enough weight to carry and sustain two men, the general said.

Water recoveries are easier, Flickinger said, because smaller impact forces are expected after reentry. The relatively flat surface of water allows line of sight observation by radar and visual means.

He said he believes the Soviets have made an attempt to divorce their man in space effort from their military effort. They would count on the prestige they would gain from putting two men into orbit to do a purely scientific experiment.

Flickinger expects the shot to come by late spring or early summer.

He spoke to newsmen shortly before the annual banquet of the American Astronautical society.

Rehash of Street Extension Sought

Want Commission to Settle Washington-Franklin Project

The question of whether Washington street or Franklin street should be extended westward from Division street may be rehashed.

City planners have recommended the council ask the regional planning commission to choose between the two. Councilmen vote on the idea tonight.

Appraisers were hired recently to price land for a Franklin street extension. Director of Public Works Duszynski explained, because aldermen apparently "had jelled" on that route.

Ald. Austin N. Tucker, who strongly urged referral of the choice to the regional planners, said he's convinced Washington street would be a better selection, but is willing to rest his case with the regional planners.

Ald. Kenneth Priebe said he also regards Washington street as the better choice.

The regional planning commission advice should be sought, Tucker said, because there's a great deal of money involved in the project and the regional planning commission tract requires local planning assistance.

Mayor Mitchell told him the problem had not been referred to the regional commission because the city is still gathering facts. Pricing of needed right-of-way is one of them.

(In the board of public works meeting in which hiring of appraisers was recommended, Ald. Thomas K. Schneider inquired and the board ruled the decision to hire appraisers was not a commitment to extend Franklin street. The so-called Packard street dump land was being priced primarily because of its possible value as off-street parking. Franklin street entered the picture here, it was said, because right-of-way for an extension would knife through the parking site, if the street was extended across the dump.)

Long Time Wait

Tucker told the mayor the city ought to avail itself of the regional planners in any case. "We're paying and ought to get something out of it."

Duszynski expressed dissatisfaction with the idea of referral to regional planners. He said their decision would be a long time coming.

Regional Planner Clarence A. Hammond said the request for a regional planning commission recommendation probably was one of those local planning problems with which Schelle and Associates probably would not deal unless specifically asked to do so by the regional commission.

Hammond admitted three requests from Appleton have not been acted upon by the regional commission because of the squabble over who would develop the regional master plan.

They are:

Ald. Roy Pointer's resolution, calling for regional planners to complete the state-started outline of principal streets within a 3-mile radius of Appleton. Pointer called for right-of-ways between 70 and 90 feet for thoroughfares.

The city council's request for a study of the feasibility of extending County Trunk A from W. Wisconsin avenue to W. Prospect avenue at the west limits of the city's industrial development park.

Meet Jan. 23

The council's request for a ruling on the advisability of rezoning Harold Hackl's 50 acres near the south line of the relocated Highway 41 in the town of Grand Chute.

Pointer's resolution and the council's request about County Trunk A were tabled after presentation to the regional commission in December, 1958, and June, 1959, respectively, until the regional planner was hired. The Hackl rezoning was submitted to the regional planners after the Jan. 7 council meeting.

Hammond said the regional executive committee will be presented the three items at its next meeting at 8 p.m.

Richmond St. Zoning Pleas Withdrawn

Alex O. Strobel and Russell C. Burns Tuesday withdrew petitions to rezone their properties at 1209 and 1103 N. Richmond street from 2-family to commercial and light manufacturing district.

Their action followed denial by the city planning commission Monday not only of their individual requests, but of an earlier rezoning scheme involving both properties which the commission itself had sponsored.

The rezoning issue was referred back to the city planners at the last council meeting upon suggestion of Ald. Kenneth Loos.

Loos and several neighbors told the planners Monday that most nearby property owners are opposed to the rezoning, whether of the two lots or the entire two blocks, as proposed by the commission.

Avoid 'Spot Zoning'

Commissioners said they believe Richmond street eventually will be a commercial street, but they must subscribe to the 2-block-or-nothing view because to do otherwise would be to "spot zone."

Burns said he wants to remodel the front of his home and cannot under the setback restrictions of present zoning. Strobel said he wants to pave the way for an addition to his building and possible sale of the property in a year or so.

Jan. 28 at the regional planning office, 1307 N. Summit street.

Jet Stowaway Makes Flight Over Pacific

San Francisco — (U) — The first transpacific jet stowaway arrived here Monday. He identified himself as Hidemasa Nagayasu, 24, of Tokyo, who had left that city 9 hours and 45 minutes earlier on a Pan American world airways jet clipper. He speaks no English.

Pan American was at a loss to explain how he got aboard the plane.

"Fourteen people wanted to see my ticket," grumbled William Le Veen of New York, "but apparently nobody asked for his."

Nagayasu was taken to a detention barracks to await repatriation. Pan American will pay for it all, under maritime law, including his return fare.

Study Started of State Tax Exemption Policy

Inquiry Committee Probably Will Ask Inventory of Property Free of Levies

Madison—While discussions about raising more tax revenues continue to dominate statehouse life, a quiet inquiry has been started of favored groups and individuals who don't worry about state or local taxes because they enjoy explicit exemptions.

The interim committee on taxation problems, which will swing into action when the legislature recesses, has indicated it intends to give special emphasis to tax immunity in a period of generally rising tax liability.

One likely goal is an inventory of the nature and volume of real and personal property exempt from tax levies. L. B. Krueger, Madison, retiring city assessor, noted some states periodically require such reports to keep informed of the scope of tax exemptions, but Wisconsin has never done so.

Stalbaum's Idea
Sen. Lynn Stalbaum, Racine, chief Democratic legislative spokesman on tax and finance matters, told fellow members of the committee that statutory and property tax exemptions should be re-appraised.

The League of Wisconsin Municipalities, long a critic of legislative actions exempting particular classes of personal property because of their effect on local government's revenue base, renewed its proposal for a special state commission to police such proposals and audit them for the legislature.

Ed Johnson, of the league, also acknowledged a review of tax exemptions is a politically sensitive subject and the new problem will be difficult to resolve. He evidently referred to the groups that over the years have won such benefits in defiance of the resistance of local governments.

Extension's Sewer, Water Mains Okayed

Committee Seeks Council Approval To Call for Bids

Plans and specifications for sewer and water mains to serve the University of Wisconsin extension center on Midway road have been approved by the city council's street and sanitation committee.

Aldermen will vote on the recommendation tonight.

The sewer main will be under pressure from the school to a point about 800 feet south of Hoover avenue on Highway 10 where it will meet a gravity sewer to be extended from Hoover avenue.

The 6-inch sewer pipe never will be available for ordinary hookup by residents along the Oneida street, Highway 10 and Midway road route, Director of Public Works Duszynski said.

The water main will be an 8-inch pipe, large enough to serve all on the route eventually and large enough to handle a future hookup with another proposed 8-inch main to the east. Likelihood of any other hookups to the main is remote since city policy forbids hookup without annexation.

$64,500 Cost
The water main will be hooked into an existing 6-inch main at the Wisconsin Michigan Power company substation on the south city limits along the east side of Oneida street. Sometime in the future that terminus will be switched to an 8-inch main extended through the Joseph C. Doerfler property just south of Hoover avenue, but some two blocks east of Oneida street.

Bids for laying of the two pipes will be sought immediately. Duszynski has said he hopes to get started with the work about April 1. Completion is scheduled sometime in July, well ahead of the opening of the fall semester.

Bids for sewage lift equipment for the school will be sought separately.

Altogether the work and equipment is expected to cost the city $64,500.

Planning Commission Approves Tentative American Land Plat

The city planning commission has recommended approval of the tentative plat for American Land, Inc.

Councilmen vote on the recommendation tonight.

Corporation holdings involve 21 acres at the northwest corner of Wisconsin avenue and Ballard road.

The tentative plat shows about seven acres being held in one tract and the rest of the land divided into residential lots.

Director of Public Works Duszynski was the lone opponent, claiming the land should continue to be held for industrial growth.

The plat has been considered several times since last summer, but was held pending a final decision on the zoning and proposed streets.

Ohio's Sen. Young Should be More Courteous to His Constituents

BY GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

New York — I have been privileged to read some correspondence between Sen. Stephen M. Young of Ohio and one of his constituents, Irwin S. Rhodes, a lawyer in Cincinnati. Rhodes wrote critically to his senator, making this point:

"I note with considerable interest that you are listed as a principal speaker at a dinner at the Hotel New Yorker... under the auspices of the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee."

wrote a letter of criticism and gave the benefit of your comments to President Eisenhower regarding his having as a dinner guest the most ruthless communist leader in the entire world. When Khrushchev was in this country, no one seemed concerned who dined with him or honored him. That is something for self-proclaimed patriots to think about."

President's Duty
This is clearly beside the point. President Eisenhower, as head of state, is required by the amenities of international conduct to have relations with heads of recognized nations. Khrushchev desired to visit this country and it seemed to me at the time that there was no way of rejecting his overtures without breaking off relations, an act which could or might lead to war.

no equal situation. He chose to speak before a suspected American group because he wished to. It is a matter of slight significance whether he did or did not deliver such an address and if he did, it attracted hardly any notice. Certainly, it affected nothing serious in the world.

In his letter to Rhodes, Sen. Young says:
"May I add that in my opinion, fascist-minded directors of the NAM and the United States Chamber of Commerce — and I can personally name several — are in reality enemies of our free enterprise system and the American way of life."
This is a very interesting thesis and might be developed somewhat by the senator. Why not name them? The senator will also enter the realm of psychology and explain what fascist-minded means. It is so rare that one meets anyone who can give a tenable definition of what fascism means or for that matter what communism means. When a man writes that if he were invited to address a banquet of the N. A. M. or the Chamber of Commerce, he would do so if he had the time, I cannot help wondering what he would do about the fascist-minded directors.

Sen. Young sent Rhodes a memorandum on which he had written and signed the following legend:
"Sir:
"It is suggested that you, a self-appointed vigilante, read the enclosed copy of a telegram and then cool off a whole lot."
Stephen M. Young."
To call an American a "self-appointed vigilante" is to praise him as a good citizen. The Emergency Civil Liberties Committee draft program for 1950 contains the following paragraphs:
"We will work for the repeal of repressive legislation that was pushed through in the McCarthy days. Specifically we call for the repeal by congress of:
"1. The 'Smith act'.

"2. The Internal Security act."
"3. The Communist control act."
"We also call for the repeal by state legislatures of various so-called internal security, teacher screening, and loyalty oath acts."

Civil Rights Legislation

Some of the liberals in Congress are pushing hard for the adoption of a civil rights bill this year.

Some of the northern Democratic liberals have been accusing the Republicans of supporting the Southern Democrats in their opposition to this legislation as "pay-off" for the Southern Democrats' support in the adoption of the labor reform bill last year. The Democrats have been using this argument in their efforts to get signers on a petition to discharge a civil rights bill from the House rules committee where it has been since Aug. 20. However, it should be noted that President Eisenhower, in his message to Congress, said he wanted Congress to give serious attention to legislation to eliminate practices of discrimination against the basic rights of Americans everywhere.

Rep. John W. Byrnes of Green Bay, chairman of the Republican policy committee, said he was "confident that there will be civil rights legislation at this session." His reply to the Democratic accusations was there is no need now to rush into special tactics to get the bill before Congress. Even so, it may be expected there will be trouble in the adoption of a civil rights measure. The Civil Rights Act of 1957 was the first piece of such legislation to be adopted in 75 years. In 1959 Congress considered civil rights legislation but could succeed only in extending the life of the Civil Rights commission until Nov. 8, 1961. This was a last minute maneuver and was accomplished by attaching an extension rider to a Mutual Security Program appropriations bill.

The legislation failed because of a 3-way division in Congress. The southern members continued their opposition to all civil rights legislation while the representatives of the rest of the nation were divided over whether to pass moderate or strong civil rights legislation. The administration's position last year, as expressed by Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers was that some of the liberals' proposals, especially that designated as Part III "might do more harm than good at this time."

The Part III included a proposal that would permit the U. S. attorney general to file civil suits in all civil rights matters, not just those concerning voters' rights. The civil rights bill adopted in 1957 gave the attorney general this authority in voting cases. However, the Eisenhower administration had supported Part III in 1957 and it was approved in the House but was eliminated by the Senate. The President did not ask for it in 1959 but some northern liberals including Republicans and Democrats have insisted on bringing it up again.

Among provisions which probably will be asked by legislators favoring strong legislation is one providing for federal voting registrars when local registrars are considered delinquent in carrying out their duties. This is a highly controversial proposal and one that may be difficult to carry out. Also, the anti-lynching provisions have aroused new interest in view of the report on the Parker lynching at Poplarville, Miss., where the local officials failed to prosecute. The Department of Justice is reported to favor anti-lynching legislation.

The House bill, which it is sought to bring out of the committee, does not contain the provisions mentioned here but they could be supplied by amendments from the floor. The House bill does propose that mob violence to prevent school integration be made a federal crime; that officials be required to preserve voting records for the inspection by the justice department if necessary; that crossing state lines to avoid prosecution for bombing any building or vehicle be made a federal crime; that educational facilities be provided for children of military personnel in cities where public schools are closed to avoid integration.

The outright opposition to civil rights legislation is pretty well confined to the South, but the division of opinion in the North as to whether to proceed with moderate or strong legislation is the real barrier to success.

The 15th Amendment to the Constitution of the United States reads:

"The right of the citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude."

"The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation."

That amendment to the Constitution was adopted March 30, 1870. Thus it is within a few months of 90 years since it was made a part of the fundamental law of the nation. The 1957 legislation which created the Civil Rights commission and a civil rights division of the department of justice went a long way toward making the 15th Amendment to the Constitution an effective provision.

Nevertheless, we are a long way from assuring all citizens full rights and equality as promised by the Constitution. However, we are making progress more rapidly now than ever and with the present administration apparently ready to propose and support anti-lynching legislation it is probable that another great step forward could be taken at this session of Congress. Probably, the greatest hazard to such legislation is the eagerness of some liberals to make a great showing by their demands for stronger legislation. Their sincerity will be tested severely in the days ahead when the time comes to choose between advancing reasonable legislation and posing as ultra-liberals.

Bob Hope's Bum Joke

Bob Hope is a highly skilled comedian and certainly stands high in the esteem of the American people. Comedians of Hope's stature do a great deal more than make people laugh although the laughs they get are a common measure of their successes before audiences. The great comedians and wits have an important part in influencing public opinion.

The ability to recognize what is a hazy notion in the public mind and to condense that foggy idea into clear understandable thought by expressing it in a few words is the real talent of the comedian. Hope does this very well. His audiences are often delighted by his monologs for in them they may recognize their own ideas put forth in clear form and in brilliant dress.

Thus the comedian not only has great power but also great responsibility. If this power is used for good it can be helpful and if it is misused it can be harmful. Not long ago when Hope was entertaining a group of service men in Alaska he offered some bits of news back home. He said, "The steel strike is settled. We recently had an unusual visitor in Washington — Mr. Eisenhower."

The witticism got a big laugh from the service men and it is not hard to understand the temptation to use such a joke for the laughs alone. But it is a bum joke and it tends to direct opinion in a direction not supported by the facts. Mr. Eisenhower has been away from the capital frequently on official business or on vacations necessary to his health, always for the benefit of the nation.

It is the duty of the President to maintain his health at the highest point possible. No job in the world requires so much energy and stamina as that of the presidency. President Eisenhower who has suffered several serious illnesses since 1955 has maintained his health by living according to a rigid schedule of self-sacrifice and self-discipline that would be beyond most of us.

We are sure Bob Hope thinks as highly of President Eisenhower as most Americans do but we think he used a joke which was bad because it directed thought in the wrong direction.

New Nation

The French Cameroons was released from United Nations trusteeship the first day of 1960 but its independence has not assured peace and prosperity. A series of terrorist raids, apparently instigated by the outlawed Union of Cameroons Peoples, cast a damper on the festivities surrounding the hauling down of the U.N. flag and the raising of the new Cameroons flag. The "self-determinism" of people is something that can't be done without trouble apparently unless each individual gets his own private independence.

The Cameroons, on the West Coast of Africa, squeezed in between Nigeria and the Congo, is about the size of California and has some 3½ million people. The Portuguese invaded it in the fifteenth century and it became a German colony during that nation's efforts to become a major colonial power in the nineteenth century. After the Treaty of Versailles, the area was divided between England and France with the latter getting the greater part. A League of Nations mandate was established. After World War II, the United Nations took over from the League.

This has caused part of the current trouble since the opponents to the trusteeship argued that the transfer wasn't legal because the League really had been extinct for some time. The fact that immediate independence wasn't granted in 1946 now looks a little like sour grapes of course. The charges have been changed to the insistence that the new independence really is a continuation of French colonial rule under a new name.

But the terrorism itself is an indication that some people in the Cameroons are not ready for the responsibilities of self-government. Fortunately the great majority do seem to understand that a gradual transference of both economic and political power is essential for stability.

Reaction to Anti-Semitism Suggests We Haven't Forgotten Hitler's Hate

From The Chicago Sun-Times

If it was disheartening to see the defiling of a Cologne synagogue on Christmas eve touch off a chain reaction reaching halfway round the world, it is encouraging to note the instant, almost universal indignation that has greeted the outbreak.

In West Germany, where most of the incidents have occurred, Chancellor Adenauer, President Luebbe, newspapers and private citizens have shown their profound revulsion. In New York, where swastikas and insults were daubed on the walls and doors of several synagogues, the buildings have been assigned special police protection, and Mayor Wagner, extending his regrets to the congregations, declared:

"We cannot and will not permit a renaissance of Hitlerism here or anywhere else in the world. We paid too high a price to crush it once before."

It is hard to say whether the incidents, which have now occurred in a dozen countries around the world, resulted from an organized campaign or were simply the work of hoodlum elements united by a common addiction to mischief. In any case their mischief is particularly reckless, and they should be hunted down, exposed, and punished.

But meanwhile, the very swiftness and universality of the popular revulsion to the demonstrations of anti-Semitism suggest that mankind's conscience, or at least its awareness, has been considerably sharpened since a little girl named Anne Frank shared unspeakable indignity and martyrdom with hundreds of thousands of fellow Jews for the offense of being born.

It may be that Mayor Wagner's remark holds the explanation: That we are still close enough to the Hitler era to understand what fury can be turned loose by giving the hate merchants too much of a start.

It is undoubtedly true that the development of the new weapons of mass destruction has increased the entire world's awareness of the fantastic price the world would now have to pay for nurturing the old prejudices to the point of hysteria.

But it may be that, along with these practical factors (or because of them) men have begun looking inwardly upon themselves in a new way — examining their own long-held biases and fears and animosities in a different light. We believe we can see the beginnings of this in Western Germany; in those areas of the United States where race prejudice has deep roots; in the universities, the United Nations, the churches.

If this process gathers momentum and becomes an established trend during the next decade, it can contribute more to human progress than all the developments in politics, science, and economics combined.

New York Youth Reform Laws Have Weak Spot

From The Washington Post

Gov. Rockefeller has proposed measures to combat juvenile delinquency that will be of interest far beyond the boundaries of New York. Several of his suggestions are designed to prevent youthful lawlessness from developing and others to apply correctional measures in the early stages. Some parts of the program appear to be constructive, though limited in scope. But why did he recommend a lowering of the age limit so that youths convicted of certain felonies could be sent to a state reformatory at 15 years of age instead of 16? Youths who commit serious crimes between the ages of 16 and 18 are a very grave problem in any jurisdiction. But in no circumstances, except in cases of real emergency, should they be incarcerated with adult criminals. The general tone of Gov. Rockefeller's proposals, based on a task force study, suggests a slip in this call for prison terms in place of special treatment in youth correction centers.

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Jan. 22, 1881.

The governor speaks in high terms of the management of the Wisconsin Industrial School for Girls at Milwaukee.

All that he says of a commendatory character is merited, as all know who have investigated or inquired. It is the best managed of our state benevolent institutions, and the good women who bestow their time and talents thereto deserved to be called blessed.

The ladies who have charge of the school should have no difficulty in securing the appropriation which they will require for the coming year.

A bill to create the Wisconsin Farm Credit administration, as a legal state department to assist farmers in negotiating federal loans was introduced in the senate that day by Sen. Morley Kelly, (D), Fond du Lac.

Almost 300 employees of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company throughout northern Wisconsin and upper Michigan were granted wage increases of 5.55 per cent, according to an announcement that morning from R. E. Moody, vice president and general manager of the company.

Whether Appleton was to have a swimming pool, how it could be financed, and what type would be built was to be discussed at the meeting of the common council.

Mrs. H. S. Harwood was elected president of St. Agnes Guild of All Saints Episcopal church at a meeting at the home of Mrs. C. R. Seaborn, Appleton. Mrs. R. S. Powell was chosen vice president and Mrs. E. L. Bolton, treasurer.

Mrs. Elsie Nemitz was installed as oracle of the Menasha camp of Royal Neighbors of America.

10 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, Jan. 18, 1950

Robert N. Denham, general counsel of the national labor relations board, said he was applying for a court order to put coal miners back on a normal 5-day work week.

Seniors at Appleton High school elected Ellen Connelly, Appleton, as the 1950 winner of the Daughters of American Revolution good citizenship award given for deep morality, leadership, service and patriotism.

Protests Warden Seizing Deer That Was Raised by Farmer

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Re: The Kerrigans' Pet Deer.

The action of the warden and the conservation department in this case is a horrible example of what happens when a state commission is given the power to make laws. We elect representatives to go to Madison as lawmakers among other things. But look how easy it is to grant this power to a commission and save themselves all that work. They forget the people who put their trust in them and leave them to mercies of a commission.

Mr. Kerrigan tells us he found this little fawn laying helpless in his field while he was moving hay on the 13th of July, 1958. This is the busiest time of the year for the farmer. But regardless, he took time to lift the mow blade, go around him and start a new cut. That night he went back to see if he was still there. He watched all the next day to see if the mother came back. The second night he was still there, so Mr. Kerrigan carried him home in his arms. The little fellow was so weak they decided to call a veterinarian to find what to feed him. The children bottle fed this baby deer, even getting up in the night, until he was strong enough to stand alone and hop about. They saved his life, he was their pet and he should belong to them.

This deer became not only the property of the Kerrigans, but of the whole neighborhood. Children and grown ups from miles around came to see and play with it. The school teacher brought the entire class to visit him.

The love of this companionship was shared by the deer as well as the humans. He loved to chase and play with the kids. He also loved to play and tease the livestock as well. That is the reason he was tied up at the time. He has ten points on his horns and was playing too rough with the stock. Any farmer knows you can't milk and tend to your work with a frisky animal running loose. He knew it was warm in the barn and just wouldn't stay outside when it was cold.

Picture this deer having a happy, friendly home. Plenty to eat and a nice warm place to sleep. Then the warden comes in, ties his four legs together, (with the aid of a state policeman) while the poor deer fights a gainst treatment he has never known. Thrown into the back of a station wagon still fighting for his freedom, and driven away from the people he knew so well. Picture those little children who worked so hard to save his life.

You people who get the conservation bulletin. How many times have you read? Be good to the farmer, he feeds the wildlife you want to hunt. Be a good sport. Well, isn't this a great example of good sportsmanship? Just let them get their hooks into you, then see what good sports they can be. They aren't satisfied to take the deer away, they want to have court-fine this man on top of it. A man who did a kind deed. A man who was chosen the outstanding young farmer of his community by the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Appleton. A man who is now a member of the school board. A man who is liked and appreciated by his neighbors. A man who was never arrested even for a traffic violation is now being made a criminal for an act of kindness.

The people of Outagamie county are very fortunate to have a municipal judge like Oscar Schmiede. Although he cannot change the written laws he stands for justice above all. He takes people's problems seriously and will spend time and work, if necessary, to see that even the lowliest receives fair and impartial judgment. It's too bad he is so often put on the spot by badge happy officers.

It's time the sportsmen in Wisconsin put up a fight to save what little freedom they still have left. Another few years of this and the only ones who will still be hunting and fishing will be the beer barons.

Wisconsin Versus Iowa

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I would like to thank everyone for their kind remarks on the letter I wrote to the Forum. In regard to the letter by A.G., I would like to correct some errors in interpretation. I did not mean to infer that Wisconsin has, had, or ever will have a team of any superior capability to those of any other school. It appeared to me that in Iowa there is a great emphasis placed on winning. The victory is in the battle and to lose gracefully is also a victory.

The reason I did not include those startling facts about Iowa is that I would then have been forced to include the fact that Wisconsin outproduces the nation in paper, cheese and butter and that Wisconsin has produced great men like Sen. Joseph McCarthy, Robert LaFollette Sr., Frank Lloyd Wright, Orson Wells, Don Ameche, Harry Houdini, etc.

With regard to the other letters, which were also greatly appreciated I would like to point out that I have also travelled extensively, in the U. S., Canada, Mexico, and halfway around the world. I find that to compare states is foolish... the letter was merely a device to create thought in the minds of Wisconsinites of the merits they have in their vicinity. The use of Iowa as the example was simply the one which seemed best suited to the task. The letter was not intended to survey the Appleton area to find the number of ex-Iowans living there. This I seem to have accomplished.

Editor, Post-Crescent:

In regard to the letter published in Peoples' Forum, entitled "But Did You Ever Try to Drive on Iowa Dirt During Rainstorm?" Perhaps if you had read on a little further in my letter you would have noticed that I was taking Mr. Mellberg on an airplane ride over Iowa. Therefore, we would have no worries concerning the dirt roads in Iowa.

Suggests Paying Taxes Under Protest

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Fellow citizens of Neenah—

Due to our recent sewer back up, I sincerely urge each and every one of you to put in your claims for damages. When you pay your taxes, pay them under protest. Don't forget, if you didn't get the mess this time, you may the next time. We intend to take the mayor's advice and install standpipes and sewer plugs and next time send the sewage your way.

In fact why pay taxes at all when the majority of our present administration isn't worried about our sewers, which we are already paying taxes for.

Wisconsin Properly Claims Birth Of GOP at 1854 Ripon Meetings

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

There is some indication that thievery may be afoot, and that a treasure (if it is one) may be stolen from a Wisconsin city and placed either at Bloomington, Ill., or at Jackson, Mich.

One hundred and six years ago, on March 20, the Republican party was born in Ripon, Wis. Pridelike folks in Bloomington say, "No it was not!" And similar folks in Jackson, Mich., said about the same thing. Both places claim the honor — if it is one.

Vermont sometimes makes a similar claim and New York does, too. Now and then other states make a move at Wisconsin's protestations, and demand the credit — if credit is due.

Most historians agree that it was indeed Wisconsin where the party was first organized, and most agree, too, that the founder was one Alvan Earle Bovay, an attorney who moved to Ripon from New York.

Lest Michigan or Illinois or Vermont or New York covet the birthplace title too energetically, let it be recorded that most of us will not willingly let them swipe it from us.

Whig Party Member

Bovay had been an avid Whig party member which was defeated in the presidential election of 1852. This defeat and the introduction of the Kansas - Nebraska bill two years later gave some gaudy lumps to his party and set him to thinking about the formation of a new one.

Across the country there were wholesale desertions from the Whig party as well.

who was a personal friend, Bovay said he had chosen the name "Republican" because it was the only name that will "live and last."

Bovay literally had created the meeting, the attendance at it, and the party. He had gone from house to house in Ripon and canvassed each of the community's 103 eligible voters. Fifty-three of them attended the meeting in the schoolhouse.

Several years later, Bovay recounted it in this way: "We went into the little meeting held in a schoolhouse—Whigs, Free Soilers, and Democrats. We came out of it Republicans and were the first Republicans in the land."

Suggests Name Use

Michigan was soon to hold its state convention at Jackson, and Bovay wrote to political leaders and suggested they use the new name. He enclosed clippings of an editorial from the New York Tribune which discussed the name of the new party and urged its use.

The date of the Jackson meeting was July 6, 1854, almost five months after the Wisconsin group adopted the title. At the July meeting, Michigan also adopted the name and nominated the first Republican state ticket.

Lacking national leadership, the Republican party remained only in state politics, but drew strength from Vermont, New York, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan and Wisconsin.

It was not until two years after the Bovay meeting at Ripon that a state convention was held at Bloomington, Ill. At that meeting, May 29, 1856 — a country bumpkin who was a professed anti-slavery Whig departed from the Whig party and joined the Republicans.

Abe Lincoln

His name was Abraham Lincoln.

Thus Michigan's claim is based only upon the creation of the first Republican ticket. Illinois' claim is based upon the semi-start of a national party.

Wisconsin's claim is based upon the birth of the party. And it appears that we may rest our case.

Discussion Shows

Parking Authority May Meet Opposition

Formation of an Appleton parking authority apparently will be opposed by some members of the board of public works.

Mayor Mitchell called for a study of possibilities in his "state of the city" address to the city council last April.

Aldermen Alvin Tews and Thomas K. Schneider formally put the idea before the works board in October after they returned from the inspection of Kalamazoo, Mich., and Toledo, Ohio, shoppers' malls.

Mitchell Tuesday presented copies of parking authority ordinances which have been adopted by other state cities. City Atty. Jury said he and the mayor believe the next step is for the works board to outline what provisions it wants in an ordinance draft which Jury would prepare.

Before going into details, the attorney advised a discussion of the merits of the idea.

"What's the advantage of it?" Schneider asked.

"The authority could float revenue bonds," replied the mayor.

"Well, can't the city council do that?" asked Schneider.

"Yes," said the mayor, "but bonding by the council would count toward the city's bonded debt limit."

Sees Good

Schneider asked whether there was a possibility of mortgage bonds being sold to finance an authority and its building program. Jury said no.

Jury indicated he sees some good in authorities in that they tend to be regarded as a utility, thus taking parking out of politics.

Director of Public Works Duszynski said he believes an authority would have people on it who would push for solution of parking problems more actively than city council committees.

Key Decision

Under questions designed to show that aldermen would have to make all key decisions anyway and the authority could not get out of politics, Jury admitted the council would have to pass on all of the authority's land purchases, contracts, ordinances and bond sales.

The authority could operate its own department, take options on land, operate and maintain all parking facilities and plan for more, he said.

Schneider said the parking problem is not overworking his committee, but Ald. Roy Pointer, chairman of the street and sanitation committee, said that if there is delay in solution of problems some of the fault is the works board's, "and that includes me."

Copies Coming

The discussion also touched on possible difference in interest rates, depending on whether the city council or the authority would issue bonds, and on the probable membership of Duszynski on the authority.

It is impossible to say whether there would be a difference in interest rates, depending on who sold them, the mayor said. Pointer said he thought there would be.

Duszynski said he would need more help in his department if it must take over planning for such an authority.

Final action was withheld pending distribution of copies of the other cities' ordinances by City Clerk Broehm to all members of the board.

Prange company's building program, will be the featured speaker at the annual dinner for city officials to be held Thursday night at Butte des Morts Golf club by chamber of commerce leaders. 150,000 Meet Red Officials In India

Reception Contrasts Welcome Given on Eisenhower Visit

New Delhi—(U)—Soviet President Klement Voroshilov and a delegation of Kremlin officials received an orderly welcome today from an estimated 150,000 Indians.

Prime Minister Nehru and Indian President Rajendra Prasad greeted Voroshilov warmly as the 70-year-old chief of state stepped from his sleek TU104 jetliner.

Government clerks and farmers waved quietly to Voroshilov as he drove with Nehru and Prasad into New Delhi to begin a 16-day good-will tour. The reception contrasted sharply with the hysterical enthusiasm given to Eisenhower by more than a million Indians. "After all," commented one Indian government official, "who around here has ever heard of Voroshilov? Now as for Khrushchev."

Route Described
An hour before Voroshilov arrived, the route between the airport and the city was virtually deserted despite free rides provided by city buses for anyone wishing to view the motorcade. The same route was a virtual sea of humanity during Eisenhower's arrival for a memorable demonstration that caused his motorcade to take more than two hours for the 11-mile trip.

Voroshilov is largely a figurehead in a government dominated by Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, but full honors were required both by protocol and India's warm feelings toward Moscow. The government spared no efforts to demonstrate that, despite the spectacular welcome given Eisenhower, India is still not aligned with either of the two big power blocs.

There were many parallels between the welcomes given the U. S. and Soviet presidents. Nehru and Prasad greeted both, and in both cases rode in the same car with the presidential visitor. They followed the same motorcade route to Prasad's house, where Voroshilov will occupy the launched when the plane, after making radio contact with the base while about 50 miles from Adana, failed to show up.

A British search plane was first to spot the wreckage, on a peak about 9,500 feet high. An American rescue team of 40 men set out for the area.

Names of the persons on the navy plane were withheld.

American Among Dead
The dead in the Ankara crash included one American, James Hopkins of Birmingham, Mich., a chemical engineer for the Pfizer Corporation stationed in Istanbul. He was going to Cairo on business.

Also aboard was a Canadian woman identified as Mariella Laurinden and two Britons.

One victim, 37-year-old Per Ekberg of Helsingborg, Sweden, was on his way to Cairo to bring home the ashes of his father, the Swedish consul general there, who died Jan. 11.

The plane was a French-built twin-jet Caravelle operated by Scandinavian Airlines. It was the first commercial crash for the Caravelle since Air France and the Scandinavian line began using it a year ago.

Inquiry Started
The plane encountered heavy rain and wind as it approached Ankara, but airport experts said the crash "was caused by technical reasons—not the weather." They gave no further explanation, and a 6-man team from the Turkish air force began an investigation today.

The Caravelle had left Stockholm and Copenhagen yesterday and had stopped in Dusseldorf, Germany, Vienna, Austria, and Istanbul. From Ankara it was to fly on to Damascus and Cairo. As it approached Ankara it carried 35 passengers and a crew of 7.

About five minutes before he was to land, the pilot asked the Ankara airport control tower for landing clearance. He reported an altitude of 6,500 feet, then went silent. Airport workers saw a same quarters Eisenhower used. The red Soviet banner—instead of the stars and stripes—waved from thousands of poles along the motorcade route.

2 Prostitutes Claim Beatings By U. S. Soldiers

Seoul, Korea—(U)—Two more Korean prostitutes have accused U. S. soldiers of abusing them, claiming they were "beaten and painted" at Camp Beaver on New Year's eve night. The army said no evidence has been found to support the charges.

The women said the incident took place in company E of the 2nd medium tank battalion, 7th division.

Two other Korean prostitutes were recently paid $300 damages because two sergeants shaved their heads after finding them soliciting Jan. 2 in a barracks at the camp 14 miles from the North Korean border. The men were members of company C and their commander had ordered head shaving for any prostitutes caught in his area.

The army said the new complaint was made to the Korean national police by two women who said they were "severely beaten and painted the night of Dec. 31, 1959 by U. S. personnel."

"A thorough investigation . . . has thus far failed to reveal any evidence to substantiate the claims of the two women," the army said.

trial was delayed while authorities in nearby counties investigated his possible connection with eight other burglaries.

Armed Robbery
Roger Dury, 25, of Green Bay, who was charged with armed robbery and burglary in connection with the holdup of a DePere night club last November. At the time of his arrest, Dury had threatened to shoot it out with police but surrendered without resistance. He also is wanted for two Florence county burglaries.

Premier Adnan Menderes and a group of Turkish cabinet ministers hastened to the scene.

Eyewitness accounts by farmers living nearby varied. One said the plane appeared to blow up high in the air. Others said they saw flames as the jetliner plunged. Still others reported an explosion after the crash followed by a fire.

The two used the rod to force a door on the second floor of the jail. They made their escape down a fire escape. Officials were unable to say how they got out of a common bullpen in which they had been locked.

At about 4:14 a.m., Mitchell Lotto, 32, night watchman at a used car lot where Dury's

Nelson Urges More Money for School Milk

Madison—(U)—A congressional committee was urged by Gov. Gaylord Nelson today to approve a bill increasing expenditures for the federal school milk program.

In a letter to Rep. Lester Johnson (D-Black River Falls), the governor said the increase is needed to forestall a cutback in the program. Johnson is chairman of a house agriculture subcommittee slated to hold hearings on the measure.

Nelson said the U. S. department of agriculture has recommended reducing the level of federal support for the program by one-half cent a quart, effective March 1. This would reduce the program cost to $75 million annually.

"If this recommendation

Graham Now In Africa To Preach

Manrovia, Liberia—(U)—Billy Graham rode into Africa Tuesday with a prayer that this continent now aflame with nationalist fire will become Christian.

The evangelist, who has preached the gospel in many other parts of the world, arrived with a small group of helpers for his first campaign in Africa south of the Sahara. His plane was greeted by sirens and fire engines. An hour later Graham was greeted by his long flight, told the president: "We bring the affection and love of millions of Americans."

Graham, slightly ruffled by his long flight, told the president: "We bring the affection and love of millions of Americans."

William V. S. Tubman, one of Africa's most durable and experienced political leaders. "You come in a different capacity from that of many who visited us recently," Tubman said. "You've come bringing good news of the gospel of Jesus Christ."

$240,000 to be Spent Improving Manitowoc Port

Manitowoc—(U)—A $240,000 improvement program for the municipal airport here was announced Tuesday shortly after Manitowoc county leased the field from the city of Manitowoc for $1 a year.

The improvements will include a 3,300 foot east-west runway. The federal government will pay half of the cost of improvements, the county $80,000, the city $24,000 and the state of Wisconsin $18,000.

Africa's most durable and experienced political leaders. "You come in a different capacity from that of many who visited us recently," Tubman said. "You've come bringing good news of the gospel of Jesus Christ."

Graham, slightly ruffled by his long flight, told the president: "We bring the affection and love of millions of Americans."

Soviet General Hits Jay-American Pact

Moscow—(U)—The commander of Russia's forces in the Far East today denounced the new U.S.-Japanese security pact as a move against the Soviet Union. He warned that because of the treaty, the Kremlin might not honor its promise to return two islands seized from Japan in World War II.

Col. Gen. Valentin A. Penkovsky declared that in signing the new pact, Japanese Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi "may reap a whirlwind." He warned that in the event of war, Japan risked "retaliatory blows of devastating power."

Writing in the Soviet communist party paper Pravda, Penkovsky said he thought the Soviet people would consider Russia released from her promise to return the tiny islands of Habomai and Shikotan since "it is clear to everybody they will be used by foreign armed forces."

Curb Inflation and Cut Debt, Ike Urges

in two weeks—for removal of the 4½ per cent interest ceiling on federal bonds.

He repeated most of the 79 legislative requests he sent to congress in his budget message Monday.

There was no reference at all to general tax reduction—not even the heavily hedged prospect, voiced in the budget message, that “the next administration and the next congress” might be able to consider some relief.

Must Curb Spending

By demonstrating the government's ability and determination to control its spending

Forecasts Long Business Upturn

Washington—In his annual economic report to congress today, President Eisenhower:

Forecast business upswing through 1960 “and well beyond.”

Set $750 billion production goal for 1970.

Called for black-ink budget, federal debt reduction.

Urged wage-price restraint; wants price cuts as well as increases.

he said, congress can provide potent help in restraining inflation, promoting sound growth, and “strengthening confidence in the dollar at home and abroad.”

Eisenhower indicated that, despite the painful impact of last fall's 116-day steel strike, he will resist any moves in congress to restrict collective bargaining or regulate private wage and price decisions.

Keeping wage settlements within the limits of rising productivity, the president said, is the joint responsibility of labor and management—a responsibility that is “especially great in industries that are basic to the nation's defenses and economic health.”

“Labor-management disputes in basic industries should be settled promptly, preferably without recourse to strikes, and certainly without extended interruptions of production that cause widespread dislocation and unemployment and threaten to paralyze our entire economy,” the message said.

“They should be settled on terms that are fair to the public at large as well as to the parties involved.”

Wage increases must not exceed, on the average, the gains in general productivity if reasonable price stability is to be achieved, he said, adding:

“Furthermore, price reductions warranted by especially rapid productivity gains must be a normal and frequent feature of our economy.”

“Without such reductions we shall not be able to keep the price level as a whole from advancing.”

Although the administration was busily exploring possible methods of strengthening the Taft-Hartley act's “national emergency” provisions before the Jan. 4 settlement of the steel strike, today's message made it clear Eisenhower wants no governmental tampering with free collective bargaining, or with private wage and price decisions.

The goal, he said, should be to broaden the public's understanding of the relationship of rising productivity to wage and price advances.

“It would be a grave mistake to believe that we can successfully substitute legislation or controls for such understanding.”

“Indeed, the complex relationships involved cannot be fixed by law, and attempts to determine them by restrictive governmental action would jeopardize our freedoms and other conditions essential to sound economic growth.”

State Warns Federals Off Water Problem

PSC Urges Strict Home Rule for River Regulations

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—An official statement filed with a U. S. senate study committee positively suggests that the U. S. government adopt a hands-off policy on water use matters now adequately handled by the state and local governments.

The statement was prepared by the Wisconsin public service commission, after consultation with other state agencies responsible for water use regulations and the enforcement of state laws in the field.

The present Wisconsin law concerning waters in lakes and streams is “essentially adequate and sound,” the national legislators were informed. “These laws give primary recognition to the rights of riparian owners and allow reasonable use of the water by them and by the public generally.”

The national government should involve itself in such affairs only if there is a showing that negligence by state and local governments is damaging the public interest, it was said.

Need Study

The state committee which prepared the statement at the request of Gov. Nelson acknowledged that water problems are increasing and that there is accordingly a need for more research, surveys and measurements so that the existing laws can be applied effectively.

But the state should have primary control over the destiny of its purely intrastate lakes and streams to Change Ordered in Procedure to Vacate City Streets, Alleys

All actions to vacate alleys and streets will be processed by the city planning commission before a final vote of the city council hereafter.

In recent years, recommendations to vacate streets and alleys have been handled exclusively by the council's street committee, but Ald. Austin N. Tucker and others have questioned the procedure.

Tucker has told the planning commission he believes the commission ought to screen all vacating proposals. Ald. Kenneth Priebe added he thinks such procedure is required by state law.

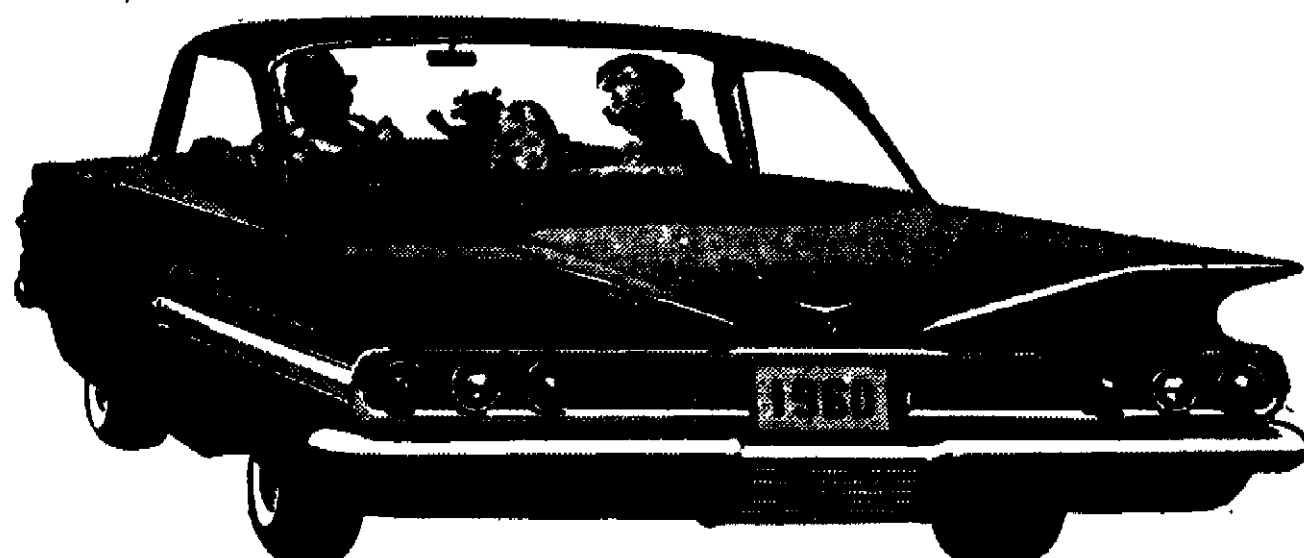

Director of Public Works Duszynski, who writes planning commission reports to the council, said he was unaware of the situation, but will see to it that all vacating proposals are routed to the commission in the future.

the end that state policy cannot be upset by federal agency actions, such as permits for the construction of dams, the state officers declared.

A useful field for federal government action, it was suggested, would be the problem of diversion of water from the Great Lakes, such as Lake Superior and Michigan which involve Wisconsin.

Federal policy should explicitly control methods and volumes of such diversion, and a requirement for the return of the water to the lakes after treatment “for a high degree of purification,” according to the declaration.

On a topic that has long been sensitive to Wisconsin conservationists, the state said federal agencies in such matters as subsidizing land drainage should not be in conflict with the purpose of other federal agencies, and that no federal money should be used for such projects that are not authorized and encouraged by the state.

A Custom Built Home Is BETTER!

Spring Styles Go From Top to Toe

A New Lilac Shade, supring haze, is used for this balli breton with a high-swept front brim. The back fits easily and fuschia grosgrain forms the band and bow.

The Greta Garbo Slouch has been revived and is interpreted here in oatmeal-colored milan. Turquoise taffeta circles the crown and the same shade is carried through in the soft face veil.

The Vamps of These needle-toed pink calf shoes have been cut out for a lacy, springlike effect. Perfect with linen sheaths or film chiffons, the shoes have a festive, dressy air about them.

Pink Novelty Braid of loop-the-loops transform this bell crown cloche into a light and airy look for spring. The silhouette is shown in the new collection of Bernard Workman.

Chinese calendars indicate that 1960 is the Year of the Mouse, but fashion will remember it as the Year of the Leg. Hemlines remain high and silhouettes demand a long-legged look to balance new top width.

The reappearance of the opened shoe provides one of the most dramatic style changes and in millinery, the spring season calls for a "hat-tier hat" to complement daytime dresses and suits.

Slimmer, more tapered lines will denote the closed pump, although many have open shanks or cut-outs in pie shaped wedges dipping to the inner or outer edge of the vamp.

Enlarged perforations band the toe and are set in triangle or teardrop shapes. Another design has narrow strips criss-crossing the bared portion above the closed toe.

The ultimate in the opened up shoe is the stripping sandal and the thong sandal—providing the bare minimum coverage of a single strap. Exciting exceptions to the still dominant double needle toes offer women their widest choice of lasts in several seasons. New toe shapes include the nipped point—squared off at the tip; the elongated square; the angled oblique, and the long, flattened oval called the "round peg."

Toes are given further emphasis by the use of contrast-

The Black Patent Town shoe with a slender, medium height heel is trimmed with a flat patent bow and shows new toe shapes. These are tapered and nipped off to a diminutive square.

ing materials and colors. A pump of silky suede is trimmed with lustre calf and patent toes of another style are set off by zebra stripes in white and black calf extending horizontally along the vamp to the black quarters. Other styles point up the toe with subtle treatments in the same texture and color but with shirring, buckling, banding and perforation.

New colors, shapes, grains and textures are making heel headlines. The stiletto is frequently jeweled and still is the smartest approach to evening wear. One high heel just straight up to join the shoe shank at right angles. Some diminutive heels suddenly bulge into flattened shapes, sculptured wooden heels, tapered wedges or disappearing heels.

Hat Headlines
The up-swept breton is one of the important new hat silhouettes for spring with large, full-blown berets worn to the back of the head sharing the fashion spotlight. The berets are good with the suits featuring short, young jackets with skirts that are lightly gathered or rounded at the sides. Chanel-inspired ensembles also take well to berets or bretons.

Height is featured in tall pillboxes, turbans and toques and fexes worn at the back of the head are shown in some collections.

The usual spring flowers are blooming bigger than ever on the hat scene. A greater use of braids is seen—perfect accompaniment for white tones.

Walking Shoes are Smartly opened for spring. Oyster colored calf is used for this unlined style with a scalloped halter and a medium height heel.

Grams' Imagination, Tales of Regal Ancestry Awe Children

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've never written to a column before but I need help from a stranger.

My wife's mother lives a few blocks from us. She comes over almost every day. "Grams" (as the kids call her) is a pleasant person and she never gets in my wife's way, but frankly speaking I think she has a screw loose.

She tells our kids that they are of aristocratic blood. The children are nine, eight and six, and they're pretty puffed up because of Grams' colorful tales of titled and rich ancestors.

My wife and I know there's not a grain of truth in her stories. She's told the same yarns so many times that she actually believes them.

Should we tell the kids their grandmother is a wee mite off upstairs, or would this be too much of a blow?—Plain Folks

DEAR Plain: Tell the kids that Grams is a nice person who likes to make up interesting stories for children. Explain that she is merely entertaining them and is not relating history as it actually happened.

You might also let your kids know that rich and titled ancestors aren't the important thing in America. Every individual has to do something on his own. People can't inherit achievement. Those who try to skate by on the accomplishments of ancestors are considered fools.

DEAR ANN: I can't stop thinking about that woman who cried on your shoulder because she married a "homely little shrimp." She said she "couldn't have done worse." I'd like to tell her that she could have done a lot worse. I married the handsomest guy in town and my gorgeous husband almost cost me my sanity.

I know a man's looks don't determine his morals. But any sap knows a guy who is out-of-this-world handsome gets many more tempting opportunities to go haywire, and the weak ones take them.

We weren't married a month when I saw my beautiful husband slipping out the back door of my next-door neighbor's home. (He was supposed to be at work.)

We spent 16 miserable years together. He was never home nights. I was afraid to go anywhere in the evening with friends for fear of running into him with some tramp.

My adonis died four years ago and now I'm married to a plain looking little guy. But his guileless eyes are beautiful, and his smile is honest. I'm happy for the first time in 20 years.—Mrs. At Peace

DEAR Mrs. At Peace: I received many letters expressing a similar point of view. Most of them came from women who had rotten luck with handsome husbands.

Some letters came from men who found life unbearable with exquisite women. The men who wrote didn't complain because their beautiful wives were unfaithful, however. For the most part their complaints stemmed from their inability to tolerate the stupidity of their magnificent dolls.

One wretched husband from Stamford, Conn., wrote "Her lovely head was empty. Her eyes looked out, but they did not invite you to look in. It was like being married to the prettiest mannequin in Macy's window. So I left."

To learn the booby-traps of teenage drinking, write for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teenage Drinking," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

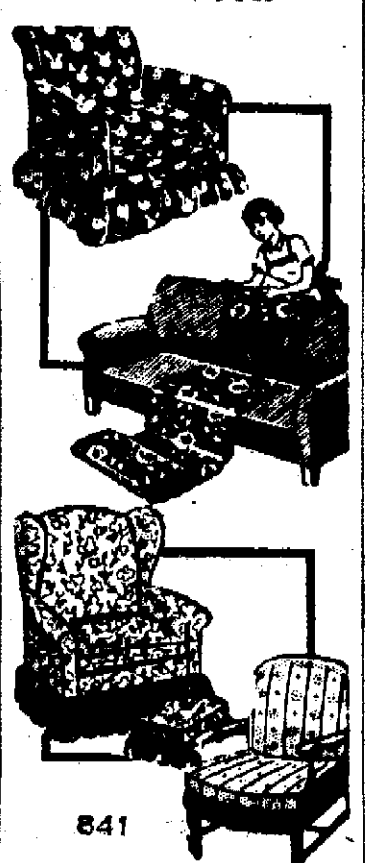

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Youngsters Can Assist With Casual Entertaining

Since today's casual way of life means simple entertaining it's easy to extend hospitality to friends. But at the same time you can use the occasion to give youngsters an experience as host or hostess.

Sharing what you have with your friends is sincere hospitality. You are giving them the nicest compliment when you invite them to take part in your family life.

When you entertain a few friends or relatives it's a good time to let your youngsters learn the art of being a gracious host or hostess. They may greet guests, take their wraps, help with dinner preparation, serve the first course, and provide many of the niceties that go along with entertaining.

When they're ready to entertain their own friends you may be grateful that they feel free to bring them into your home. This will give you a better chance to know your youngsters' friends.

Even when you entertain business or professional friends or plan a festive occasion with special china and glassware a simple menu will make the meal easy for you and your children to manage. Try to keep your entertaining within the bounds of your time, means and facilities.

Spur-of-the-moment entertaining may be one of the most relaxing ways to entertain. Whether it's for lunch, supper or an evening snack you won't have time to worry about preparation and your guests may find this ease reflected in an enjoyable atmosphere.

Interest High In Traditional Dinnerware Sets

Traditional held its own with contemporary in the new dinnerware designs introduced in the January market in Atlantic City.

Despite the growing popularity of contemporary furnishings with young homemakers, dinnerware manufacturers are finding that interest in traditional still is widespread. In melamine dinnerware, for instance, several of the patterns that attracted most favorable interest were adaptations of the famous "Blue Willow" design of another century. Other patterns that hark back to earlier eras were Currier and Ives prints reproduced on dinner plates and the familiar "onion" pattern of Meissen, originally created in 1710.

More variety in the shapes of plates was notable in the January market. The popular rim, a wide border with a deep well, was shown by several melamine dinnerware manufacturers.

Abstract designs were much in evidence in the contemporary group. Color-wise the pastels were much used, a favorite combination with several manufacturers being beige in combination with soft pink or blue. Turquoise tones were less intense and softer and some of the smaller patterns combined many hues for a multi-colored effect.

Use Strategy to Keep Toddlers From Harm

BY ANGELO PATRI
Runabout children have a way of getting hold of things that they might better leave alone, and this is a constant worry to their mothers. No matter how many things are put out of reach, these children manage to get hold of something they should not have and their mothers must take it from them either to prevent damage of household furnishings or injury to the child.

Mother was making pie crust; Bunny was occupied in his corner with his toys. All at once, there he was reaching up to the table clutching the knife that was in his reach if he stretched hard and far enough. Mother dropped her rolling pin, dashed around the table, grabbed Bunny's hand and took the knife away, shouting, "What is the matter with you anyway? Can't you stay where you belong for a minute?"

Bunny let go, plumped down hard on the floor, lifted his voice in a howl that could be heard for a block. He was frightened, angry, a bit hurt by his hard whack on the floor. His mother had to pick him up, wash his face, comfort him, and that took the time she had planned for making the pie she needed for the evening meal.

In these situations, over-worked mothers have to take precious time out to set things straight. Snatching things from the children and shouting, scolding, punishing them will not help.

First of all, keep calm; then substitute the forbidden article. Attracting the child's attention to something in another direction often will cause him to give up the thing he is clutching. The doggie on the street, the toy kept handy for such an emergency, some fascinating gesture, anything that one can think of to change the direction of the child's attention will do.

There are occasions when one must act so quickly as to leave no time for this. Maybe he is turning up the gas burner, or the hot water faucet, or pecking into the oven "to see." One should move fast and silently, do what is necessary to protect the child — but without scolding, confusion or noise.

Very active little ones should be penned in one corner of the room where their mothers work when there are dangerous possibilities.

The training for this should start early so that the child becomes accustomed to it and does not look on it as punishment. He feels he is just looking not doing anything wrong so punishment only confuses and angers him. Go gently.

Angelo Patri offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning child training. If you would like to have his leaflet, P-8 "Good Books for Children," send 10 cents in coin to him, in care of this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York, 19, N. Y.

1 OUT OF 3 DOES!

Pidgering, nose-picking and a tenacious rectal itch are often tell-tale signs of Pin-Worms... a very persistent medical expert says infect one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these parts must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W Tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredients grow right to work—killing Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. Get positive Jayne's P-W Tablets... small, candy-like tablets... special stars for children and adults. Perfected by Dr. B. Jayne & Co. specialists in worm medicine for 100 years.

Miss Karen Buser

Parents Tell Engagement Of Daughter

The engagement of Miss Karen Buser to Roy E. Lecker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lecker, route 3, Appleton, has been announced by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Buser, 2003 N. Oneida street.

Miss Buser is a senior at Fox Valley Lutheran High school and her fiancé is taking a course with Northwest School of Engineering while doing construction work in Appleton.

Vitamin C Helps Prevent Winter Colds

Vitamin C is thought of as the cold-preventing - vitamin, according to food specialists at the University of Wisconsin. You need it every day but during this season of wet and cold weather an extra supply of vitamin C can help prevent colds.

You can get enough vitamin C to meet the day's requirements in a half grapefruit or a whole orange or in a cup of grapefruit or orange juice. One cup of shredded cabbage gives about two-thirds of the days needs and a potato gives a fourth. Greens, broccoli, peppers, Brussels sprouts and tomatoes are also fair sources of the vitamin.

In Good Taste

Good Idea, But Wrong Procedure

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I belong to a group of about 25 women who make up a guild and once a month, after our meeting, with the exception of a few, we dine out at a hotel, where previous arrangements are made. On one occasion we were invited to the house of one of the members for dinner instead of going to the hotel, and we had a delightful evening. A couple of months ago one of the other members said she was going to ask us to her house soon for a buffet dinner and a few days ago advised that it would be in two weeks and that she was going to ask for $2 from each member who accepts the invitation. I was horrified, to say the least. I would never think of inviting people to my house for any kind of a meal or for any reason and charging them for it. Am I right? Other members think that since we would have to pay for our dinner if we dined out, there is nothing wrong in asking the members to defray the expense of the food.

Answer: She was certainly very wrong in inviting you first and then asking you to pay for your food. It would

C to meet the day's requirements in a half grapefruit or a whole orange or in a cup of grapefruit or orange juice. One cup of shredded cabbage gives about two-thirds of the days needs and a potato gives a fourth. Greens, broccoli, peppers, Brussels sprouts and tomatoes are also fair sources of the vitamin.

Two Lawrence conservatory students will present a program of music at 8:15 p. m. Thursday in Harper hall. Lawrence Strieby, 616 E. Circle street, a French horn player, and Kay Gainacopulos, Fond du Lac, a clarinetist, will be accompanied by Karen Beck, Lomira, and Jill Grande, Park Ridge, Ill. Both soloists are juniors in the bachelor of music program. Gainacopulos is a student of Carlton Sawall, Strieby of Fred Schroeder. Other students participating in the recital are Judith Bell, flutist, Janesville; Phyllis Singletary, oboe, Beloit; and James Hawkinson, Cloquet, Minn., bassoon. The complete program, which is open to the public, is as follows: Variations Sur Un Air Du Pays D'oc Louis Cahuzac Gainacopulos, Miss Beck Concerto No. 3 in E flat major W. A. Mozart I. Allegro II. Romanze-larghetto III Rondo-allegro Strieby, Miss Grande Intermession Premiere Rhapsodie

Use Apricot Liquid for Lemon Gelatin Use the liquid from cooked dried apricots as part of the liquid needed when you are preparing lemon gelatin. Turn the gelatin into a small square pan and chill until set. Cut the molded gelatin into squares and serve on crisp greens with cottage cheese and salad dressing. Serve for lunch after hearty bowls of split pea soup and croissants. The croissants will taste especially good if you make them by browning and crisping small squares of bread in plenty of butter or margarine.

Claude Debussy Gainacopulos Sonata for Horn and Piano Halsey Stevens Strieby Partita for Wind Quintet Irving Fine Judith Bell, flute James Hawkinson, bassoon Phyllis Singletary, oboe Kay Gainacopulos, clarinet Lawrence Strieby, French-horn

Undemonstrative Husband

"... I would like to know what you think I could do to keep down the hard feelings that arise. Not so much fighting as ignoring my even being around. Of course this is only my side and perhaps I do not understand his side of it at all."

Your handwriting reveals so much that is kindly, competent and reasonable that your husband has very little of which he can complain. He is a man who loves intensely and possessively but unfortunately he does not know how to show his love and appreciation. When he says nothing, that's approval! His letters are tiny, angular, written with strong pen-pressure and slanted to the right. He is a hard and conscientious worker with a real genius for spotting flaws and mistakes. His narrow, pointed "n's" and "h's" indicate that he is self-conscious and therefore undemonstrative. He can't say "You are the most wonderful wife in the world and I love you more than anything," but I'm sure that's how he feels. To his way of thinking he proves his devotion through hard work and fidelity. There's one consolation. This is better than a husband whose actions belie his sweet words! If he could learn to express his love and to praise generously he would make everyone, including himself, much happier. Since he can't he is more to be pitied than censured. Wavy strokes in capitals in both writings (N.T.) indicate that you both have a good sense of humor and a love of fun. There's always a funny side that can dispel bitterness when it starts to crop up. Miss Stafford welcomes letters from her readers. They cannot be acknowledged but the most interesting ones will be used in her column. (Copyright, 1960)

Fired Newsman Gets New TV Job

Windsor, Ont.—A veteran television newscaster Jac Legoff, ousted two months ago by WJBK-TV in neighboring Detroit for "editorializing" on payola, will return to TV Feb. 1 with an evening newscast for CKLW-TV, Windsor. J. E. Campeau, CKLW president, said Tuesday Legoff was given a 5-day weekly program from 5:50 p. m. to 6 p. m. Legoff, 37, was fired Nov. 19 by WJBK-TV after a newscast on which he said acceptance of money or gifts for plugging records and products had become part of the American way of doing business. WJBK said these remarks violated station rules prohibiting editorial comment on newscasts.

Venezuela Police Nab Reported Revolutionists

Caracas, Venezuela —A Police reportedly have rounded up 14 military officers and about 60 civilians suspected of plotting the overthrow of President Romulo Betancourt's government. The arrests followed the capture Tuesday of five men accused of a wave of bombings and other terrorist activities last October and since New Year's eve. The head of a police raiding party was killed during a gun battle that preceded their capture. The group included Carlos Savelli Maldonado, alleged leader of the terrorist campaign. He had been in hiding since escaping from jail last October.

5. "The Big Hurt" by Tom Fisher.
6. "Way Down Yonder in New Orleans" by Freddy Cannon.
7. "Why" by Frankie Avalon.
8. "Among My Souvenirs" by Connie Francis.
9. "Teen Angel" by Mark Dinning.
10. "Lucky Devil" by Carl Dopkins Jr.

One of the really big tunes of five years ago was "Let Me Go Lover," and 10 years ago Frankie Laine's "Mule Train" was high on the charts.

New Albums
"The Explosive Freddy Cannon" album with Freddy Cannon includes some of his recent hits as well as a collection of other mediocre numbers. The driving sound, geared to teens, is prevalent all the way through. Hits include "Way Down Yonder," "Tallahassee Lassie," "Okefenokee." Freddy does a fair job on a former hit, "Kansas City." Summing it up, for Freddy Cannon fans only, not music lovers.

"Mark Twain Tonight" with Hal Holbrook. A recapturing of the Broadway atmosphere of the readings of Mark Twain by this talented newcomer to the stage. A witty album, it features Holbrook acting out some of the finer and more hilarious essays of Twain. Included in the group of skits is "On Smoking," which is exceptionally good, and "How to be Seventy." An enjoyable hour of humor.

Pop record spotlight:

"Beyond the Sea" by Bobby Darin. A followup to "Mack the Knife" that sounds just as good. It's a flowing, well done song in a slightly swinging ballad style. It features the professional style of Darin.

Thomas Mitchell Has First Stage Role in 6 Years on Broadway

New York—(U)—Thomas Mitchell returns to the legitimate stage for the first time in six years as star of "Cut of the Axe."

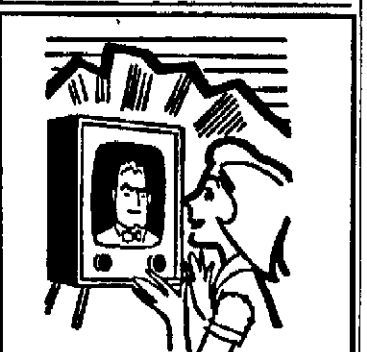

This is the first play by Sheppard Korman. It is based on the Delmar Jackson novel of the same title.

Mitchell plays the part of a man of considerable financial and political power in a small Midwestern town. The play is scheduled to open on Broadway during the week of Feb. 8.

'Twelve Angry Men' Named Top Foreign Film by Japanese

Tokyo—(U)—Leading Japanese critics named the American movie "Twelve Angry Men" the best foreign film show in Japan in 1959.

For the best Japanese film of 1959, the critics chose "Kiku and Isamu," a story of Japanese orphans fathered by GIs during the occupation and abandoned by their mothers.

Reviewer Has Theory About TV Westerns

In Adult Versions Name of Horse Not Important, She Says

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

New York—(U)—The real test of an adult western is not, contrary to a widely-held theory, whether the hero is permitted to kiss the girl. It is whether the hero's horse has a name and personality. Most of us can identify Trigger, Butter-milk, Champion, Silver, even Tony, if we're old enough. But who can tell the name of Marshal Dillon's trusty steed, or Paladin's or Josh Randall's?

It's a lucky thing TV was not invented before psychiatry. How on earth could most of those crime shows find villains if it weren't for the emotionally disturbed killers, the schizophrenic burglars, the frustrated bombers.

Commercials don't have to be repetitious bores—sometimes the ones that accompany the Sunday afternoon and evening shows are more interesting than the shows themselves. There was a fascinating, educational commercial the other evening showing how explosives are used to blast pivots into place, and another was a demonstration of new equipment now being developed to give an airplane pilot a "road in the sky" to fly on.

Does any other woman viewer worry about the casual way demonstrators leave refrigerator doors open indefinitely when they are showing the well-stocked interiors?

Why do lather and razor demonstrators feel they must act as if shaving were a delightful episode to be savored like sipping 100-year-old brandy?

What I'd really like to know is what the commercials-makers use for Brand X in those sink-cleaner ads.

Telephone Hour last week ranged from so darned cute with all those musical couples, to just dull—but still very handsome for color-set viewers. ... Speaking of color, the brightest thing on the Jerry Lewis special was the lining of Jerry's jacket—Chinese red.

Those Sunday night GE Theatre shows vary widely—poor to extremely good, which undoubtedly is one of the problems faced by an anthology series using many authors. Joseph Stefano, who wrote Sunday's "The Committeeman," has two extra-special half-hour shows to brag about. The other was a recent episode on Robert Taylor's "Detectives." He apparently has mastered the trick of the 30-minute show. Now if somebody could just master the tricks of the 60-minute and 90-minute show. Most of them are either so lean in plot they are padded, or so full of plot there's no time to get the audience caring about the characters.

The first show of the "Manhattan" series, which starting Feb. 12 will alternate with Desilu Theatre, is one of those psychological dramas, ... Jim McKay, who plays the court reporter on CBS's daytime "The Verdict is Yours," will tape the show in advance so he can spend two weeks covering the Olympic winter games at Squaw Valley, Calif.

State Legislature To Begin Study of Anti-Biotics in Food

Joint Council Will Suggest Action Required to Succeeding Assembly

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—Is there a need for new public controls over the use of chemicals in the growing of food crops? The Wisconsin legislature has decided to examine the subject. The Joint Legislative Council in a resolution by the legislature has been instructed to study the use of pesticides, poisons and anti-biotics in the production of food and to make such recommendations to a succeeding legislature as it may believe are necessary.

USDA Charges 7 Packers With Violations

Complaints Issued In Milwaukee for Stock Yard Agencies

The United States department of agriculture announced the issuance of complaints charging seven market agencies operating at the Milwaukee stock yards with violations of the Packers and Stockyards act.

Names as respondents in the complaints are Clough, Cook & Company; B o o t h Bros., Inc.; Holmes and Robinson, Inc.; John P. Brummer and Sons, Inc.; Equity Cooperative Livestock Sales association; Badger Livestock Sales, Inc.; and Kane Livestock Sales, Inc. Each is registered with the secretary of agriculture as a market agency to buy and sell livestock on a commission basis and each, except Clough-Cook and Co., is also registered as a dealer to buy and sell livestock for its own account.

Kane Livestock sales is alleged to have charged producers commissions and other marketing fees for services which in fact had not been performed since the transactions involved took place in the country. The firm is also charged with having used funds from its shippers' proceeds account to purchase this livestock.

Complaints Listed
The complaints cite a number of violations on the part of various of the other six respondents. Some of the violations alleged include failure to offer consigned livestock on the open market and failure to show full or correct names of livestock purchasers on accounts of sale issued to consignors.

The complaints also charge use of false names on scale tickets, furnishing unauthorized information on livestock sale prices and failure to keep records which would fully and correctly disclose all transactions involved in the business of the market agency.

In connection with the first charge, failure to offer consigned livestock on the open market, some of the practices specified were using consigned livestock to fill purchase orders on a commission basis; taking into the account of the market agency livestock offered to it on a commission basis and reselling such livestock at higher prices than permitted to consignors; permitting dealers to put personal identifying marks on consigned livestock, then weighing the marked livestock to those dealers without offering it to other interested buyers to obtain the highest available bid, and weighing consigned

The study will probably be undertaken by the agricultural sub-committee of the group, which recently chose Sen. Howard Cameron of Rice Lake as chairman.

The legislature is a resolution by Assemblyman Gilbert Hipke of Calumet county, a food processor, said that chemicals have become vital in the production of food crops because of their usefulness in cutting down losses due to plant and animal diseases and insects.

But the Hipke resolution also recited the risks involved "as highlighted by the recent cranberry episode".

Similar incidents in the state might have a costly and adverse effect upon the Wisconsin agricultural economy "which has enough problems now," said the New Holstein canning firm executive.

The Cameron committee at its first meeting here said it would consult the technicians of the several agricultural agencies about the scope and nature of the problem before inviting food technologists and producers to testify on the matter.

7 Make Tour of UW Short Course

Waupaca—A tour of Wisconsin University short farm course facilities was taken by seven Waupaca county youths.

Each of the youths were members of an FFA program in Waupaca county's seven high schools. Purpose of the tour was to show facilities available to continue farming education. Delegates also learned of availability of free tuition scholarships for the courses sponsored annually by county associations.

Making the tour were Pat O'Brien, Manawa; Ralph Roe, Iowa; David Doede, Weyauwega; Warren Paulsen, Waupaca; Roger Knapp, New livestock to the accounts of various packers without offering it to either the buyers for the packers or other interested buyers.

The USDA complaints state that unless the respondents admit the allegations with which they are charged, or satisfactorily explain them in writing within 20 days, the cases will be set for oral hearing.

SCS Head
Makes Study Of Winners

Waupaca — What does it take to be a prize winning farmer? Money, or perhaps a big farm?

Not according to a recent survey by John Nimlos, Waupaca SCS agent, who studied past winners for the coveted Banker's award for the most progressive farmers in the county.

The study was conducted to help select 1960 winners. Those winners will be honored by the Waupaca County Bankers' association during a dinner Feb. 16 at the New London Legion clubhouse.

No Big Acreage

Most past winners didn't have large acreage. They also didn't have the best land according to the survey. Of past winners, 96 had between 80 to 160 acres of land. The land was excellent in 13 cases, good in 56 and fair in 27 instances.

Thirty-eight winners lived on 160 to 240 acre farms. Five had excellent land, 13 good and 20 fair. Thirty winners had more than 240 acres. Of these, four had excellent land, 13 good and 13 fair.

As for the prize winner's equipment, Nimlos calculated on the basis of an average farm of 20 cows, a good set of buildings in good repair, with an adequate line of machinery.

Good Farming Counts
From the equipment standpoint, 43 winners were slightly above average, 83 average, 37 slightly below average, and six considerably below normal.

Figures show it is not the rich farmer who always wins. Farm progress is one of the main factors considered. A rich farmer misusing his land is a poor farmer. A poor farmer who improves his land, crops and herd by study and conservation work, is a good farmer.

An amazing fact shown in the survey is that winners did not stand still after winning.

They progressed even further to become better farmers and more active members of their community. Some have won the award more than once, but the majority were 1-time winners. One hundred farmers have won once, 36 won twice, 7 won three times and one farmer has been named four times.

Conservationists Pick

The soil conservationist, county agent, forester, farm home supervisor, and others nominate farmers whom they have helped during the year or who they know have done an exceptionally good job of soil conservation, land use, farm organization and management, good family living and service to their community. It is quite possible that they might miss some one.

"However, it would seem that it would be the farmers fault if he does not use the services available to him, not ours," said John Nimlos, local soil conservationist.

Next, directors of the Waupaca County Farm Improvement association cut nominations to five per township. They name a list of 66 judges, three in each township. The township judges pick the 22 township winners. To be impartial, judges from southern townships will judge farms in northern portions of the county. Past winners and SCS district supervisors pick the top winner.

Tucker Says He'll Suggest Depot Action
Wants Planners to Do Something About Downtown Building

A list of suggestions for action against the former downtown depot of the Chicago and North Western has been promised the city planning commission by Ald. Austin N. Tucker.
Tucker's promise came after an exchange between him and Mayor Mitchell which began with Tucker demanding to know what had been done with his resolution of a year ago.
Tucker's resolution called for a study of how the depot area could be improved. It was referred to the city planning commission.
Says He's Layman
Mitchell told Tucker there's apparently no hope the depot will be moved back from Appleton Junction to which it was switched in March, 1958.
The old depot, said Tucker, "is a dirty shame. It's in the heart of the city and something should be done."
"What do you suggest?" asked the mayor.
"As a layman," retorted Tucker, "I come to those who have engaged in planning."
"Well," said the mayor, "The property may be for sale. Railroad appraisers have been here."
After a discussion of the fact that the railroad owns the street connecting Oneida street and Appleton street just south of the depot, Tucker insisted again: "I think we ought to take the initiative."
"What do you suggest?" the mayor asked again.
"If you want me to write them down, I will—if you will consider them," replied Tucker.
The consensus of commission attitude gave Tucker the go-ahead to submit his proposals in writing.

Board Warns Co-Curricular Activities May be Dropped

President Asks Council to Grant an Additional $7,900

Menasha — All co-curricular activities at Menasha High school as well as use of the high school's swimming pool, may be dropped in September, 1960, if the council does not grant an additional $7,900 to the school board, Ted Neely, board president, warned in a letter to the council Tuesday night. Summer school also would fall by the wayside.

The board Tuesday night submitted a budget of $392,769 to the council, a cut of $32,100, from the original request of $424,869. However last December the council had instructed the board to cut its budget $40,000. Two board members appeared at the budget hearing, asking the council not to cut the budget.

The revised budget was adopted at an unannounced special meeting of the board of education Monday night.

Refer for Study

On motion of Ald. Lee Rathner, chairman of the finance committee, the new budget was received and referred to a committee of the whole session for further study. Rathner asked the referral, "since the revised budget is not complying with the directive to delete $40,000."

Neely's letter declared the revised budget represented the absolute minimum requirement for operation of the same programs as are now in existence for the school year. Co-curricular activities would include:

He was a Neenah resident for 30 years.

Funeral arrangements are pending at the Kessler Funeral home. A memorial is being established for the heart fund.

Police Acted As Deputies, Giese Says

Explains Use of Menasha Force at Neenah Strike Scene

Neenah — City Atty. William R. Giese explained Tuesday Menasha policemen were used at the recent Neenah Foundry company strike scene to help maintain order, acting as deputized Neenah police.

He gave the common council the explanation on request of Ald. Louis Gamme, who commented he "objected very much to the use of Menasha policemen for the protection of scabs and strikebreakers."

Gamme and Ald. Edward Stinski and Fred Block reported receiving calls from their ward residents on the use of the police at the strike.

Giese said Neenah "called for assistance in maintaining law and order. They were not acting as police of Menasha. They were deputized by Neenah and acting as police of Neenah. They have the police background and training to handle the situation."

Mayor Absent

Stinski, council president in absence of Mayor R. G. DuCharme, asked who would pay for possible injury claims to Menasha police in such cases.

Giese said Neenah workmen's compensation insurance carrier would be liable for any such claims, since the police were acting as Neenah constabulary.

Two councilmen were absent — Aids. Gordon Schanke and Fred Rohloff. Mayor DuCharme is still recovering from his recent illness, for which he was hospitalized from Monday to Saturday of last week.

Vote Fund Transfer To Balance City Books

$16,675 to Offset Overdrafts in Accounts Partly Due to 53 Paydays During 1959

Neenah — Transfer of $16,675 to balance the city's 1959 books was approved Tuesday by the common council.

Ald. Lee Rathner, finance committee chairman, wagged his "fiscal responsibility finger" and moved adoption of the resolution. He said, "I would like to point out to you the circumstances involved in 1959 do not usually happen."

"A fair share of it (overdrafts) was due to 53 paydays in 1959. Many other things were in material accounts due to expenditures approved and not in the budget. I feel you are going to have to be very careful this year—the budget is very finely balanced. There was $140,000 to $150,000 for street outlays last year. You must be careful in the street department accounts."

Rathner, after four terms, has announced he will not seek reelection from the Third ward this year. As chairman of the finance committee, he many times has voted against purchases not included in current budgets.

On motion by Ald. Louis Gamme, the board of public works was directed to recommend steps to correct sewer backup problems usually encountered in springtime, but also last Christmas weekend.

The council also: Approved purchase of eight plastic hard hats for $60, six barricades with flares for $185 and a battery charger for $150, all for the street department.

Invited bids for two new police squad cars, with 6-cylinder engines and other specifications, due by 4 p.m. Feb. 2. Approved payment of $2,136 and Fred Rohloff. Mayor DuCharme is still recovering from his recent illness, for which he was hospitalized from Monday to Saturday of last week.

Ban Heptachlor Where Residue Stays on Crops

Washington — An immediate ban on use of the pesticide heptachlor under conditions which leave residues on harvested crops was announced Tuesday.

The food and drug administration said, however, that persons adversely affected by the order may file written objections within 30 days and request a public hearing.

The intention to prohibit further use of heptachlor under an FDA regulation which permitted small residues in harvested food and forage crops which are shipped interstate was announced last Oct. 27. This gave manufacturers an opportunity to seek to have the question studied by a scientific advisory committee, but no such request was filed.

FDA said the action was based on new scientific data. This showed, it said, that in addition to residues of heptachlor, a breakdown product called heptachlor epoxide is present on crops treated with the pesticide.

The new data also showed,

Stopping Distance Greater When Ice Is at Melting Point

When ice on the roadway is wet due to rising temperature, a motorist's stopping distance may be nearly twice as long as when the temperature is around zero, according to research by the National Safety Council.

For this reason, our state motor vehicle department recommends reducing speed on newly-frozen or thawing ice. Be especially wary of ice patches on bridges, shaded portions of a road, and underpasses.

Board Reduces Budget; Warns Of School Cuts

clude football, basketball, track, debate, dramatics, forensic and intramural activities. By cutting out summer school, an estimated $2,000 in teacher salaries could be saved. Elimination of the co-curricular activities, effective in September, might save about $3,000 in salaries and as yet an unfixed amount for purchase of co-curricular equipment, possibly $2,000 to $2,500. No cost figure on the swimming pool is available. Its major costs are the water and the heat to hold it at a usable temperature.

Adoption Feb. 8
The new school budget, to be adopted formally by the school board at its Feb. 8 meeting, also estimates an increase of $2,595 in receipts from the hot lunch program, based on an assumption last year's meal-serving volume will be maintained. Last year ending cash balance of $9,307 also applies as income.

The revised budget calls for a total of $629,359 in direct taxes from the school district. The council has ordered the figure to be held to $589,359. Of those figures, the city would pay 78 per cent, or $459,700 and the town of Menasha's former Maplewood district 22 per cent, or $129,659. Added to the 1960 budget are two payments totaling $101,250 for bond issues on Clovis - Grove and Second ward school projects.

Cuts in Items
Cuts are shown in the year's estimates for:

General control — $1,434, clerks' salaries, due to a new payroll system. Repairs and maintenance of buildings — $9,800. The board wanted $6,000 for repair of a crack in the southeast corner of the auditorium wall, $1,500 for fluorescent lights and $2,375 for painting, all at the high school; $1,550 for painting inside Nicolet school; $200 for painting in Jefferson school; and $2,625 for furniture at Clovis-Grove school. All but some painting was dropped for this year.

Furniture and equipment — $1,200 for purchase of a grand piano, was eliminated. Miscellaneous — $1,000 for sidewalk repair around the schools was dropped this year.

Capital outlay — $4,200, of which $2,000 would have gone for new band instruments and $2,200 for a truck.

Functions of PSC Explained To Rotarians

Public Sometimes Misunderstands Its Duties, Padruitt Says

Public misunderstanding of the functions of the Public Service commission breeds criticism from the press and private parties and leads to public "indictments" on three charges, according to Arthur L. Padruitt, Chippewa Falls, one of the three commissioners.

Padruitt, a former state senator and assemblyman, told Appleton Rotarians the public often charges the commission has incompetent commissioners, the regulators are controlled by the regulated, and commissioners eventually wind up as utility executives. All decisions of the commission must be made strictly according to the law, he said, and the commission often is considered a quasi-judicial agency.

He explained that in 1959 the commission conducted 12,000 to 15,000 hearings and the commissioners issued 8,493 formal orders.

Hearings conducted by the 135 PSC employees are recorded in shorthand and notes then are transcribed for study by the commissioners.

Despite public protest to regulation by the commission,

Outagamie County Dentists played host to county doctors at a joint meeting of the Outagamie medical and dental societies at the Elks club Tuesday. "The Human Machine" was the subject of guest speaker Dr. Edgar S. Gordon, left, professor of biochemistry and clinical medicine at the University of Wisconsin Medical school. Before the dinner meeting he chatted with, from left, Dr. Walter S. Griffin, Appleton, medical society member, Dr. Francis W. Cousineau, Hortonville, president of the dental society, and Dr. S. J. Kloebe, Appleton, program chairman.

there also are favorable comments, he said.

To illustrate the scope of the utilities controlled by the commission, Padruitt explained that $472 million was paid to Wisconsin utilities in 1959. The estimated state income tax for 1959 is only $372 million.

A large part of the money taken in by the utilities was returned to the state in taxes, he added. Padruitt said the commission has jurisdiction over 10,973 motor carriers, 121 electric utility companies, 425 telephone companies, 417 municipal water sites, 12,000 navigable streams, 8,676 lakes and 1,097 dams. It also issues rules on all highway and railroad crossing signals.

Woman Injures Hip In Fall on Sidewalk

Mrs. Manda Parish, 1314 N. Division street, was taken to Appleton Memorial hospital in a Larry ambulance about 4 p.m. Tuesday after she slipped and fell on the sidewalk in the 100 block of W. College avenue. She suffered a hip injury. Taken to St. Elizabeth hospital by Larry's was Edward Knope, Stevens Point, who collapsed at the Conway hotel about 9 p.m. Tuesday.

The sealed bid of Al Utchig and Sons, Appleton, was rejected because it was filed at 2:09 p.m. Deadline established in the city advertisements was 1:30 p.m.

Low Bids on Police Station Addition $91,620

The proposed police station addition will cost the city $91,620, exclusive of possible alternates and the architect's fee, low bids opened by the board of public works showed Tuesday.

Apparent low bidders are Dick Oudenhoven Construction company, Kaukauna, general contract, $62,988; Towne, Inc., Little Chute, heating and ventilating, $14,377; Langstadt's Inc., Appleton, electrical, $11,565; and R. Selig and Sons, Inc., Appleton, plumbing, $2,750.

Seven companies quoted on the general contract, five on heating and ventilating, five on plumbing and three on electrical. All bids were given to Architect Raymond N. LeVee for verification. He will return with his recommendation and to discuss several alternates at the board meeting in two weeks.

The sealed bid of Al Utchig and Sons, Appleton, was rejected because it was filed at 2:09 p.m. Deadline established in the city advertisements was 1:30 p.m.

Asks Council to Okay Turnarounds on John, E. Eldorado Streets

Approval for turnarounds on Eldorado street and John street will be sought from the city council tonight.

The Eldorado street turnaround will be at the dead-end created by construction of the new Edison school.

The John street turnaround will be, at the deadend of John street on the north bank of the river after the old stone arch bridge is dismantled.

In conjunction with the John street turnaround, a storm water drain will be constructed from the turnaround westward to Lawe street. And, 2-way traffic will be reinstituted on John street from Meade street west, if the council tonight and subsequently approves an ordinance change.

Falls Against Meter

Bill Bauhs, 62, Balliet hotel, was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital Tuesday in a Lindy ambulance after he fell against a parking meter in the 200 block of N. Appleton street, receiving a severe face laceration.

Leahy Gains Support at NFL Parley

Stalemate Looms In Duel for Commissionership

Miami Beach, Fla. —(AP)—An early stalemate in the fight for the National Football league commissioner loomed today between forces backing acting commissioner Austin H. Gansel and those favoring attorney Marshall Leahy of San Francisco.

Leahy's strong support as the 12 league owners opened the league's annual meeting was a surprise. He was believed to have virtually eliminated himself Monday by flatly refusing to leave the West coast.

A number of owners had said league headquarters either should be in the Midwest or East. However, the Los Angeles Rams and San Francisco 49ers, chief backers of the athletic looking lawyer, apparently had rallied support on a platform of, "It doesn't matter where the league office is located as long as the commissioner is a strong man."

A reliable source told The Associated Press today that Leahy now has seven votes and Gansel five. Leahy's support included the entire Western division and one eastern club. The source said it looks like a stalemate at the start. It takes nine votes to elect

Packaging Firm's $2.5 Million Plant Opens

Lancaster, Pa. — A $2.5 million corrugated shipping container plant went into operation here today in the first major expansion of the Packaging Corporation of America since its formation in a 3-company merger six months ago.

Opening of the Lancaster plant extends Packaging corporation's operations to a national network of seven major pulp and paper-board mills and 41 strategically located converting plants from the eastern seaboard to the Rocky Mountains.

Largest machinery unit in the semi-automated plant, which will employ 125 persons at full capacity, is a giant 300-foot corrugator as long as a football field. Two high speed presses each are capable of printing two-color promotional messages on 24,000 boxes an hour.

Packaging Corporation of America was formed July 31, 1959, by the 3-way merger of the Ohio Boxboard company, Rittman, Ohio; American Box Board company, Grand Rapids, Mich. and the Central Fibre Products company, Quincy, Ill.

Seek Financing For Industrial Park Addition

The city council tonight will be asked to instruct its finance committee to arrange terms for purchase of a 63.6-acre addition to the city's industrial development park.

Roland Abitz and George Vanden Heuvel, owners involved, are asking a total of $103,560 plus interest charges if the money is paid in installments.

Financing will prove a headache, the board of public works said in recommending council action. The problem is that only the Fox Valley Sheltered Workshop has paid for land in the existing 40-acre park. Other purchases which have been approved were held up while the city had an abstract of the property prepared and while the Chicago and North Western, former owner of some of the land, was involved in judgment suits.

The North Western is clear of court entanglements but not all of the abstract is ready.

Senate Spurns Plea of Small Railroad Firm

Door County Line Wanted Exemption From Wisconsin's 'Full Crew Law'

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
 "I don't see how you can say there is a danger of collision when there is only one train on the line," Laun told Tuesday when the state senate summarily dismissed a plea from a small railroad company for exemption from the "full crew" law enacted by the present legislature in 1959.

The senate by a decisive vote rejected the request of the Ahnapee and Western Railway company, a Door county line based in Green Bay, which claimed that the law requiring a five man crew would be a costly imposition for it and that since it has only one locomotive in operation the safety considerations that were advanced for the original act are not applicable to it.

Only One Train.
 Senate Democrats and Republicans who led the fight for the brotherhoods in enacting the original act fought down the proposal sponsored by Sen. A. A. Laun of Kiel.

Legal Ad Laws Undergoes Study By Judicial Unit

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — A review of the state laws governing legal advertising and public printing has been begun by the joint legislative council at the direction of the legislature.

The job is being undertaken by the judiciary committee of the council.

A preliminary staff report reviews the long history of laws governing legal notices and informs the study committee "considerable statutory revision probably is needed."

The report is required by Nov. 1, so it will be available to the 1961 legislature in possible revision of the statutes.

ses and truck competition," Bushman added. "The full crew law is raising havoc because it has legislated train jobs that are absolutely unnecessary. Unless relief is forthcoming it will mean eventual abandonment and the communities we serve will lose the advantages of rail rates and many industries will be forced to move and possibly some will move outside the state," Bushman wrote Laun.

Most of the smaller railways use light equipment and haul fewer cars than the major lines, argued V. M. Bushman of Green Bay, president of the Ahnapee line. "We are having a most difficult time in meeting expenses and truck competition,"

Cut-Paste Contest Offered To Paper's Young Readers

BY CAPPY DICK

Put the scarf and cap on the ice skater and you may win a prize!

This is fun! It's fun to prepare your entry and, if you become a winner, it will be fun to receive your prize.

Each boy or girl who wins this contest will receive a Cappy Dick grab bag prize—something that will remain a secret until the mailman delivers it. Some of the winners will receive packets of foreign postage stamps to start them as stamp collectors. Others will receive packets of foreign coins. Still others will win puppets, or ball guns, or soap bubble outfits. Many kinds of prizes are in Cappy Dick's supply and for each winner something exciting to receive will be selected and mailed.

To prepare your contest entry and try for one of the awards, use your scissors to cut out the boy skater in the picture above. Also cut out his cap and scarf. Paste the boy on a sheet of paper or a postal card. Then paste the cap and scarf on him. Do this as neatly as you can.

When the paste has dried, use your paints or crayons to color the skater, or decorate your entry in any other way you consider neat and attractive. Print your name, age and address beneath the picture and finally, address it to Cappy Dick at the Appleton Post-Crescent and mail it before midnight Friday.

The five neatest, most attractive entries will win the grab bag prizes.

Giants Reportedly May Kill NFL's Expansion Plans

New Clubs' Chances Don't Look Good, Says Writer

BY ART DALEY
Post-Crescent News Service
Miami Beach — This historic meeting of the National Football league which opened here today brings back sharp memories of the darkest period in Packer history—just 10 years ago now.

Remember January of 1950? "Curly" Lambeau had left the head coaching job he held for over 30 years, the Packers were practically busted and were just starting out on a drive to raise new working capital, and player personnel was at a low ebb. There were many folks in the league who figured the Packers couldn't last.

Lions Win Duel For Robinson, Paper Says

Dallas Club Had Also Claimed Star From LSU

Detroit —(AP)—The Detroit Lions and the National Football league have won a battle with the American Football league for Louisiana State's Johnny Robinson, the Detroit Free Press said today.

The Lions were "given" Robinson by Dallas, of the new league, the Free Press said in a dispatch from Miami Beach, Fla. The NFL's meeting starts in Miami Beach today.

"The agreement came out of a discussion between Lion President Edwin J. Anderson and two attorneys, R. H. Dedman of the AFL and Ed Guinn of the Texans," the story said.

Signing Announced
"We have agreed to honor each other's contracts of rookies we might sign," Anderson was quoted as saying.

The Dallas club announced Robinson's signing immediately after LSU's defeat by Mississippi Jan. 1.

"Anderson wasn't announcing any specific dates, but the Lions doubtless signed him sooner," the Free Press said. The Lions had threatened a court battle if Robinson tried to play in the new league. His case is similar to that of his Louisiana State backfield running mate, All-America Billy Cannon.

The Los Angeles Rams of the NFL and the Houston Oilers of the AFL each claim Cannon. Cannon has said he prefers Houston.

The Rams have filed a suit to prevent Cannon from playing with any other teams.

Pete Hall Signs With Grid Giants

Milwaukee —(AP)—Pete Hall, Marquette university's great passer, said Tuesday he had signed a contract to play professional football with the New York Giants. Hall also had been offered a contract by Buffalo of the new American Football league.

Two other Marquette players have signed professional contracts. Frank Mestink, a fullback, will play with the Chicago Cardinals and Larry Hubbard, an end, will join the Philadelphia Eagles.

Bowling Makes British Debut In New 14-Lane London Alley

London —(AP)—Bowling, last week showing films of American style, makes its British debut today and some Britons are so taken with it they believe it may someday threaten soccer in sports interest hereabouts.

Completely new to Britain, where skittles is the only thing comparable, a ten-pin alley will be opened to the public before a mixed group of high society and London's cockney quarter.

Movie Actor Douglas Fairbanks, a representative of an American bowling equipment manufacturer, will cut the tape. Sir John Hunt, leader of the successful Mt. Everest expedition in 1953, will roll the first ball.

20th Crosby Tourney To Begin Thursday

Play in 4-Day Meet Is Over Three Courses

Pebble Beach, Calif. —(AP)—Bing Crosby envisioned a golfing get together of friends when he first staged his tournament at Rancho Santa Fe in Southern California in 1947. He couldn't guess that the twentieth event starting Thursday would find 300 golfers in a pro-amateur tournament which provides a true test of golf ability with $50,000 at stake.

They started calling Bing's event a clambake soon after it started and the name stuck despite the growth of the tournament and the postwar switch in sites to this Monterey peninsula bordering the Pacific.

Proven Pros
If you doubt the clambake actually brings rugged competition for four days, check the list of winners and you'll find the proven pros take away the big money.

Last year it was Art Wall,

Jr., who went on to win the Masters tourney and become "Golfer of the Year."

In 1958, top honors went to Billy Casper, the current U.S. open champion.

Others include Sam Snead, Ben Hogan, Byron Nelson, Cary Middlecoff, Lloyd Mangrum, Jimmy Demaret and Ed Furgol. You don't find a longshot one-timer among them.

"Play is over three courses—6,317-yard Cypress point with a 37-35-72 par; 6,246-yard Monterey peninsula with 35-37-72; and 6,701-yard Pebble beach at 36-66-72."

Wall, of Pocono Manor, Pa., won last year with a brilliant 279. He teamed with then U.S. amateur champion Charlie Coe for a pro-amateur best-ball score of 252 to win in that category.

In the pro-amateur, the professionals team with amateurs that include celebrities of business, professions and entertainment.

Neenah — Mid-Eastern conference basketball squads get a strict diet of league opposition this weekend, closing the first half of their schedules Friday night and then starting to go around for the second time Saturday evening.

Highlighting the Friday bill is the Kimberly - at-Shawano ruckus. Menasha is at Kaukauna in another headline attraction. New London invades Neenah and Two Rivers treks to Clintonville in the other tangles.

Kimberly returns home to entertain Clintonville Saturday night. Two Rivers is at Shawano. Menasha moves across the river to Neenah and New London plays at Kaukauna.

Title Hopes Jolted
Shawano saw its title hopes dimmed when upended by Kaukauna last week. The Indians' outstanding offensive mark also took a beating. Going into the fracas, the Red-men had scored 80 or more points in four straight games. But, they could only manage 41 against the stiff Kaukauna defense. The Indians did a little better offensively the next night but bowed, 80-57, to Wausau in a non-league tilt.

Kimberly, which has rolled up 22 straight conference wins in a span covering parts of three seasons, had its closest squeak in 1958-60 league play last time out in winning over Neenah by five.

Kimberly Has Edge
Kimberly has the edge in both offense and defense. The Papermakers have scored five more points and allowed 16 less. Shawano was the last league team to beat the villagers, the loss coming back in February of 1958.

Menasha gets the next crack at the strong Kaukauna defense, which has allowed slightly more than 42 points per game in six league starts. Four foes haven't reached the 50 mark.

The Ghosts are on their way to their best record since the 1940-41 campaign when led by Bill Alger, Carl Giordana and company, they were unbeaten in league play in copping the school's only championship. Menasha attempts to end a road jinx, having lost three straight since whipping West De Pere in its non-league inaugural.

New London at Neenah

Neenah is host to a New London team which came within a whisker of upsetting Two Rivers last week. The 4-point loss was the best effort in league play since losing by a single point in the 1958-59 opener. The Rockets, following up their impressive wins over Appleton and Two Rivers with a narrow loss to Kimberly, attempt to boost their mark to 3-4.

Clintonville will try to move up a notch at the expense of Two Rivers, which has lost five of its last six.

Olympians Win, 5-1, Over Michigan Tech

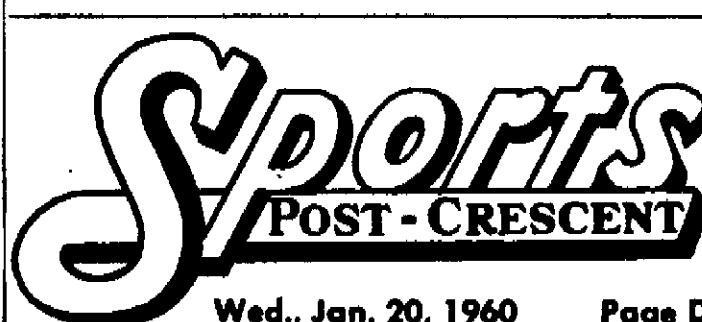

Houghton, Mich. —(AP)—The United States Olympic hockey team aimed for a clean sweep tonight in the finale of a 2-game exhibition series against Michigan Tech and the Western Collegiate Hockey association.

The Olympians whipped the Huskies, 5-1, in handy fashion Tuesday night.

Jack McCartan, former Minnesota star, turned in a fine goal-tending performance for the U. S. team. He made 33 saves.

Activities at Pebble Beach with the program scheduled from 4:30 to 6 p. m., CST.

Braves' Ed Mathews Named Wisconsin's 'Athlete of the Year'

Edges Paul Hornung In Annual Poll of Writers, Broadcasters

BY DAVE O'HARA

Milwaukee —(AP)—Eddie Mathews, the Milwaukee Braves' slugging third baseman who topped the majors with 46 homers, today was named Wisconsin's "Athlete of the Year" for 1959.

Mathews edged out Paul Hornung, the Green Bay Packers' half-back who led the National Football league in scoring, in the annual Associated Press poll of Wisconsin sports writers and sportscasters.

Mathews, who enjoyed one of his finest seasons by hitting .307 and driving in 114 runs while batting in the No. 2 slot, will receive the fourth

'Red' Refuses Braves' First Pact for '60

Veteran Says He Can Play 100 Games

St. Louis —(AP)—"Red" Schoendienst indicated Tuesday night he was not satisfied with the contract offered him for 1960 by the Milwaukee Braves.

The 37-year-old veteran second baseman said he would return the contract unsigned which he received from the Milwaukee National league baseball club.

100 Games
"Of course I didn't play last year," Red said, "but I still don't think I'm as much of a risk as the typical bonus boy. I honestly believe I can play 100 games."

Schoendienst was out of play most of the 1959 season, suffering with tuberculosis. He rejoined the Braves late in the season but played very little.

Schoendienst did not disclose the extent of a salary cut that John McHale, the Braves' general manager asked him to take.

McHale last week said he would like to have Schoendienst report early for spring training.

"That's all right with me," Red replied, "if I am signed."

Will Seek Hank's Reaction To Switch

Milwaukee —(AP)—Charlie Dressen is in town and has made it known that the Milwaukee Braves have another candidate to eliminate the second base plague. This time it's Henry Aaron.

"I'm going to ask him what he thinks about it," Aaron Dressen said Tuesday. "I know that he wants to stay out there in right field, but I'll see what he says when I talk to him."

Series of Talks
Dressen arrived from California for a series of talks at various functions around Wisconsin.

"There's no doubt that making a shift like this is a little ticklish," Dressen said. "As manager, you've got to look the guy right in the eye and convince him he can do the job."

The Braves have been troubled with the second base position ever since "Red" Schoendienst left the team at the end of the 1958 season for a bout with tuberculosis. He has recovered and rejoined the team late in the 1959 season but played only a little.

While in Los Angeles, Dressen said he talked with Aaron but didn't bring up the subject of a shift to second base.

Dressen said one of the things he would never do is try to change Aaron's swing.

"I want to convince him that pitchers are afraid of him," Dressen said.

Sixth Candidate

Since the start of the second base troubles, Aaron is the sixth man to come under consideration for the post. Other Braves who had a try at the post included Felix Mantilla, "Chuck" Cottier, Bobby Avila, Mel Roach and Schoendienst himself. Schoendienst insists he can play 100 or more games.

Aaron, who is on the West coast for a home run slugging contest being filmed for television, isn't expected to take the idea to heart without a good deal of gentle persuasion. He feels he is doing a good job in right field—the statistics bear him out, too—and that he belongs there.

Dressen indicated that if Aaron winds up on second, he could use Lee Maye in the outfield along with Bill Bruton and Wes Covington.

"I remember when I switched Jackie Robinson to third base and later to left field," Dressen said. "I told him he could do it and explained why. If I get the same reaction from Aaron, maybe we'll try him at second."

Frank Gifford to Act On New TV Program

Hollywood —(AP)—Halfback Frank Gifford of the New York Giants is turning television star, but he'll still have time to be a football star, too. He has signed to do a TV series called "Turnpike," dealing with the adventures of a patrolman of the New Jersey turnpike. CBS will carry the show.

U. S. May Drop Its Davis Cup Team if New Rule Is Passed

BY ED CORRIGAN
New York —(AP)—The United States probably will drop its Davis cup team and the cup itself will be withdrawn if the controversial "authorized player" rule is passed by the International Lawn Tennis Federation, The Associated Press learned today.

The rule, proposed by France, would create a class of players that would be permitted to take part in an unlimited number of tournaments and receive all the expenses they could command.

Defeat of Amateur
They, according to the French view, would remain amateurs and be eligible for Davis cup play.

The catch is in the definition of an amateur. As far as the USLTA is concerned, these players would be professionals.

Here is the USLTA view:
Even if it were not against the proposal on moral grounds, it is plain that the authorized players would be professionals. The rules of the Davis cup state that only qualified amateurs can compete for the coveted mug.

That means the U.S. would be forced to pull out of the cup competition. Since it is inconceivable that the nation that put up the trophy in the first place should not challenge for it, the cup probably would be withdrawn.

The USLTA officials also know that the rule has a better than fair chance of being passed. Australia is on the side of the Americans, but a big block of European countries are enthusiastically in favor of authorized players.

SEC teams play. The result doesn't count in the SEC standings but it was Auburn's fifth straight victory over Georgia Tech over a 3-season span and it means there's a lot to come in an SEC race that now has Tech leading with a 4-0 mark to Kentucky's 4-1 and Auburn's 3-1. Had Tuesday night's game been an official league game, there would have been a 3-way tie for the lead.

Hits 50 Per Cent
The official showdowns come a week apart with Kentucky out for revenge at Georgia Tech Jan. 25 and Tech at Auburn Feb. 2.

Auburn, leading the nation with a 52 per cent field goal average, hit on 59 per cent Tuesday night in the feature of a slim college program that also saw twentieth-ranked Detroit (13-2) avenge an earlier loss to Notre Dame, 68-61; Texas A & M (12-1) grab a half-game lead in the Southwest conference race by beating Rice; and Wake Forest (11-4) boost its Atlantic Coast conference record to 6-2 with an 83-64 rout of Clemson.

Auburn, its shuffle offense of quick passes off a modified weave working better than ever, had four players in double figures against Tech, which had won 13 of 14 starts. Dave Vaughn was the leader with 19 points as the Tigers won their tenth against two defeats.

Charlie North was back to help Dave DeBusschere and the sophomore pair did the scoring in the clutch as Detroit made it a 13-2 season and handed Notre Dame its fourth loss in 15 games. DeBusschere had 30 points, while North, who missed most of Detroit's 73-63 loss to Notre Dame at South Bend Jan. 9 because of a leg injury, had 11.

Area Bowling
Pete Knaack Compiles 612 At 12 Corners
Pete Knaack earned series honors in latest Dairy Couples league kegling at Twelve Corners with a 612 threesome. The Brown Swiss (22-4) lead the league by 64 games. There were no other honor tallies.

Frank Kroiss cracked a 565 in the Sherwood Businessmen's wheel. Along the way he contributed a 228 solo. Other honor scores were by: Lyle Olsen, 564; Sam Cook, 558.

If a 6-1 Insurance (30-15) dropped three games and had its league lead cut to one game.

Chamberlain Hits 30 Points in Win Over Knicks

Philadelphia —(AP)—Owner Eddie Gottlieb of the Philadelphia Warriors was right. The Philadelphia-born Chamberlain proved his boss right.

Tuesday night at nearby Camden, (N. J.), Convention hall the Warriors defeated the New York Knicks, 114-93, in the night's only NBA game as Chamberlain led all scorers with 30 points.

The 3,016 fans boosted the home attendance for the year to 159,464, setting a new Warriors' mark with 10 home games remaining.

Chamberlain is the big attraction and the Warriors are dividends because the 7-1 sensation would be a big gate for drawing fans.

Manager, San Francisco Giants

Walnut Creek, Calif. —(AP)—A lot of people are picking the San Francisco Giants to win the pennant in 1960. That's nice but I'm not going to make any predictions except to say that we have a greatly improved team over the one that finished third last year and we should be in contention all the way.

We should be stronger in all departments except perhaps in bench strength. We had to give up a couple of fine players in Jackie Brandt and Leon Wagner but we figure we got the men we needed.

Our main weakness last year was in the secondary pitching. Whether we have that now remains to be seen.

Our starters should be Sam Jones, Johnny Antonelli, Jack Sanford, Mike McCormick and Billy O'Dell. "Red" Worthington and Ramon Montant for the middle work with Billy Loes and maybe Miller again for late inning jobs. A 10th pitcher is Georges Maranda, whom we drafted from Louisville.

Don Blasingame should make our infield much tighter and stronger. The "Blazer" is a fine glove man, a double play maker and an infield leader, which we didn't have last year.

Eddie Bressoud had a good year at shortstop and with a season's play behind him he is more confident and sharper. Willie McCovey did well at first base and Jim Davenport is one of the league's slickest infielders.

The over-all outfield setup will probably be rated according to the measure of Orlando Cepeda's success, but the feeling is he can do the job.

Willie Kirkland also could be better. He hit 22 home runs last year, only four at home. The new park is supposed to favor left-handed hitters.

I'm not going to make any predictions concerning Willie Mays. Willie is capable of hitting .400, hitting 40 home runs and driving in 125 runs. One of these years he might do just that.

We probably could use more catching. Hobie Landt did a fine catching job last year but we could use a heavier bat. Bob Schmidt showed promise of power in 1958. Al Steigltz, a freshman, has a chance.

For bench strength we have Felipe Alou, who would be a regular outfielder on many another club; Joey Amalfitano, who can play second and third; Andre Rodgers, Jose Pagan and Ben Valenzuela. If we can pick up an extra outfielder, we'll be in excellent shape.

The Kimberly squad captured the swimming title, covering the 80-yard relay course in :41.2. Team members were: Tom Schwanke, Lee Neve, Dave Williamson and Al Hammen. The Wire Works was second in :42.6.

Badger Globe's A. Hubin moved into the finals of the chess tournament by defeating Riverside's G. Brummer in a long 2-0 match.

Northland Coach Fired Although He Won Crown

Ashland —(AP)—Northland college has decided not to renew the contract of football coach Don Holst.

Dean Jesse Caskey confirmed reports Tuesday that the 28-year-old Holst, who guided Northland to a co-championship in the Badger-Gopher football conference last year, will not be rehired for the 1960 season.

The dean said one of the reasons was Holst's inability to get along with students.

Holst is a graduate of Emporia (Kan.) State Teachers college. His 1958 team compiled a 2-4-1 record last season. Northland had an overall mark of 9-5 but tied Lakehead for the conference title with a 3-1 record.

Continental Loop Will Compensate Minors

Rickey Reiterates That League Won't Operate in 1960

Columbus, Ohio — The proposed third major league, the Continental, does not plan to operate in 1960. And when it does function it will pay reasonable compensation for territorial rights.

So President Branch Rickey of the proposed loop assured minor league chief George Trautman Tuesday following a remonstrative telegram from the latter.

Trautman told Rickey that although many current minor league strongholds had been mentioned by the Continental as possible or probable major league sites, the affected minor leagues and clubs had not been consulted.

Little Service

"I know you will agree that such references do little service to the clubs concerned, especially at this time when they are trying to sell radio and television rights for 1960 and are about to embark on pre-season ticket sale campaigns," Trautman wired Rickey.

"I would greatly appreciate your issuing a press release to the effect the Continental league has no intention of operating this year and urging the fans of the prospective Continental league cities to give enthusiastic support to their minor league clubs in 1960."

No Intention

"Would also like to see in such release a statement that the Continental league has no intention of attempting to occupy any minor league territory without payment of reasonable compensation to the minor leagues and clubs concerned."

Rickey answered:

"In an effort to elevate several great cities from minor to major league status, we announced originally, and have reiterated frequently that the Continental league would conform to the conditions set down by the major leagues at the Columbus meeting May 28, 1959, including of course reasonable indemnification in the matter of territorial rights. It will cooperate with any and all minor league clubs wherever it can properly do so to increase public interest.

"Surely you know that the Continental league has never intended to operate in 1960."

The Fox Valley Freshman Basketball league's last two unbeaten clubs, Kaukauna and Neenah, tangle at Neenah Thursday for first place.

The Rockets have been very impressive, offensively, with a per-game average of 57 points. They've allowed 34 per contest. Kaukauna's offensive record is 38, 11 more than the Ghosts have allowed defensively.

The most recent league starts of both clubs were against Kimberly. The Rockets were 50-41 winners over the Papermakers last weekend, the Ghosts tripped them, 30-27, several weeks ago. Dave Neubauer, Dick Kuehl and Joe Began lead Neenah. Dick Promer, Dick Strauss and Steve Hilgenberg are Ghost pacemakers.

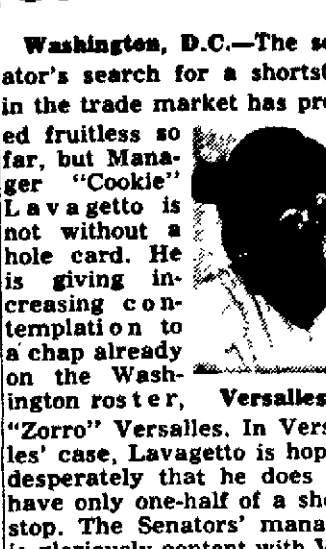

Roosevelt could move into a second place tie by beating Kimberly, if Neenah wins. Menasha visits Madison in Thursday's other game. The winner will leave the cellar.

Must Improve Hitting

Senators' Lavagetto Hopes 'Zorro' Can Fill Big Hole at Shortstop

This article, by Shirley Povich, is reprinted from The Sporting News. Zorro "Zorro" Versalles played shortstop for the Fox Cities Foxes in '59 before being recalled by Washington.

Washington, D.C.—The senator's search for a shortstop in the trade market has proved fruitless so far, but Manager "Cookie" Lavagetto is not without a hole card. He is giving increasing contemplation to a chap already on the Washington roster, Versalles.

"Zorro" Versalles. In Versalles' case, Lavagetto is hoping desperately that he does not have only one-half of a shortstop. The Senators' manager is gloriously content with Versalles' fielding and late last season was wondering out loud if there was a better glove in the league, with the exception of Luis Aparicio.

278 Mark

The flaw in Versalles' case is the .153 batting average the frail Cuban compiled in his 29-game tryout with the Senators late in 1959. Obviously, it is not imposing, but Lavagetto is loathe to regard it as conclusive proof that Versalles will not hit big league pitching.

There was a respectable .278 batting figure by Versalles in the 83 games he played last year for Fox Cities in the Three-I league and the 47 runs he batted in was an impressive total for a lead-off man. Also, he clubbed out four hits in his first seven times at bat for the Senators.

Lavagetto blames Versalles' deep hitting slump with Washington on the home run the fellow hit in his first appearance in Griffith stadium. "That was the worst thing that could have happened to him," the Senators' manager said. "He's a little fellow and that homer pleased him, but after that he went home-run crazy and was taking big swings he shouldn't have taken. He became a push-over for big league pitching."

In the Senators' Orlando, Fla., training camp, Lavagetto will have a special mission—to convince Versalles that he cannot be a power hitter because of his size. "He can be a good hitter, I think," said Lavagetto. "And he is no cream-puff hitter, either. He hit nine homers for Fox Cities and he had 151 total bases for his 101 hits, so he can be more than a singles hitter."

When he wasn't up at the plate swinging for the works, with unhappy results, "Zorro" was a joy to Lavagetto, the other Washington bosses' and his teammates. In the field, he was making all the plays with a skill unseen on the Washington team since the departure of Willy Miranda from shortstop. Double-play executions stepped up magically and the Washington pitchers were indebted to the sprightly, 150-pound Cuban.

More at Second

If it is Versalles who is installed as the Senator's regular shortstop, then Lavagetto will be more concerned about getting increased hitting power at the second base position. "We can't carry both a weak-hitting shortstop and a weak-hitting second baseman," he said. "From here, it seems that the man with the biggest bat will get the job."

Unfortunately for the Senators, there are no big bats among the second basemen. Rene Bertoia, who had a shot at the job last year, was a .237 hitter and Billy Consolo, whom Lavagetto hopes to convert from short to second, batted only .213. John Schaive, who hit .278 with Chattanooga, batted only .153 for the Senators. Lavagetto is expected to deal for a second baseman.

It is not entirely a bleak situation because, as it happens, the Senators are gifted with long-ball power in other positions and they stack up as perhaps the longest-hitting club in the league. They were the only team in the A. L. to produce three 30-homer men last season (Killebrew, Lemon and Allison) and the only club with a pair of 100-RBI men in Killebrew and Lemon.

City to Begin Study of Recreation Building

Director Indicates Program Expansion Possible With Additional Facilities

Kaukauna — Council members Tuesday night authorized Mayor Joseph Bayorgeon to appoint a committee to investigate the possibility of constructing a recreation building. Other investigation will include financing, location, size and other definite information. The study was approved after the health and recreation committee heard of inadequate facilities for recreation programs.

James Gertz, recreation director, pointed out the small space now utilized in the basement of the municipal building for Golden Age activities, arts, crafts, dancing and other activities. Gertz stated a better and more rounded recreation program could be offered if a recreation center was available.

Closing Street
The council refused to take action on the request of Kaukauna Machine and Foundry division of Giddings and Lewis to close Ducharme street from Hyland avenue to the railroad property until after a public hearing Feb. 2.

Fred Reichel, Fifth ward alderman, offered to sell the city about 9.5 acres of land, situated south of Tenth street between Boyd avenue and railroad property, for possible use as an industrial site or for street right-of-way purposes. On motion of the alderman wishing to sell, the matter was referred to the planning commission. No price was set for the property.

A request of Roy Hacker to purchase city owned property near the Girl Scout day camp was referred to the city engineer, attorney and finance committee for study and recommendation. The purchasing committee was authorized to buy an agitator for the sand spreader, estimated cost set at $263.

The council approved the purchase of two trucks from Coffey Motors for $9,994, including allowance for dump trucks now in use. The bid was low among three bidders and still met specifications.

Council members adopted a resolution designating the Kaukauna Vocational school as the Fifth ward voting station. Previously voters in that ward used the municipal swimming pool or room was rented in a vacant store building in that vicinity.

Committee to Begin Study Of Junior High

Base Pay Raises For Teachers Set By School Board

Kaukauna — The board of education Tuesday approved the plan of the school planning committee to contact parochial schools in an effort to ascertain their usage of a junior high school if one were built.

Dr. George Behnke, a member of the committee, pointed to the need for additional space in the high school and other schools in coming years and indicated the junior high would be a solution, if parochial schools would provide sufficient students.

Some mentions for a junior high list 25 classrooms, gym, cafeteria and other facilities with accommodations for about 600 students. If necessary, the school could possibly be utilized by the high school for some purposes. The committee is to meet with the planning commission relative to acquiring land, adjacent to the high school, for junior high purposes.

Raise Base Pay
The board authorized increasing the base pay of teachers $200 to $4,300 effective with the start of the new year. Pay increases were included in the 1960 budget and the raise was granted prior to discussion on contract renewals or hiring new teachers.

Steel Wage Hikes Not Inflation Spur

BY SYLVIA PORTER

The delicate stability of the entire U.S. economy is now being threatened by the misconceptions and mounting bafflement concerning what the steelworkers gained in their new contract.

Porter

Because of exaggerated notions about the steelworkers' victory, other unions negotiating contracts in coming months may make dangerously exaggerated demands. Because of the spreading "Here goes the price spiral again" psychology, the steel companies may impose price hikes that are just not warranted by the costs of the settlement.

32.8 Cent Boost

(1) The steelworkers did not get a 41-cent wage - benefit package as has been so widely reported, and they didn't get the 39-cent package that has been repeatedly discussed either. They got a 32.8-cent package in wages and benefits spread over 30 months. This obviously is not as fat a package as you have been led to believe.

(2) The major steel companies did not give away as much as they have been suggesting. The basis for price boosts is not nearly as clear as some of the steel industrialists have been claiming.

(3) It is entirely conceivable that rising efficiency of operations in the steel plants between now and 1962 will offset increased labor costs in this period. Signs of this are emerging.

(4) When increases in hourly earnings under the major steel company contracts are compared with increases in hourly earnings recently won by other workers, the big steel settlement seems the least inflationary. The percentage increases in hourly wages are: in steel, 3.75 per cent; in the Kaiser settlement, 3.82 per cent; in the can industry, 4.5 per cent; in the aluminum industry, 5 per cent.

(5) The steelworkers are getting a wage increase averaging 8.2 cents an hour beginning Dec. 1, 1960—and no cash wage hike before then—another wage hike averaging 7.6 cents an hour Oct. 1, 1961.

These hikes are within the pattern of 1959. The most common wage increases won in negotiations last year were in the 7 to 9-cent range.

(6) The steelworkers' contract says they may get as much as 6 cents in cost-of-living adjustments in the 30-month period. The companies themselves figure the increase is more likely to be 6-10ths of a cent than 6 cents. That's because the companies can deduct increases in their insurance costs from cost-of-living increases to which the workers might be entitled, and the companies definitely expect their medical, hospital and other insurance costs to go up in the period.

Not Retroactive

(7) The steel companies are getting a free ride of a little more than two months because the contract isn't retroactive. The can contract was retroactive for two and the aluminum contract for four months.

Much of the befuddlement about the steel contract may be traced to the bickering that began at the very start of negotiations on how costs should be figured. The companies wanted to count in every item of expense. The union wanted to figure costs only on the basis of the wage and benefit increases to the employees.

At the weary end, the union agreed to bargain in the companies' terms of total employment costs—which included such unseen expenses as extra bookkeeping, changes in social security payments, payroll taxes.

Official Estimates

The point is no other major contract is reported in these terms of total employment costs. When the extras not reported in other contracts are eliminated and the contracts are compared on the basis of increases in wages, insurance, pensions, holiday work pay, here is how department of labor economists estimate the gains:

For the steelworkers, 32.8 cents for 30 months; for the can employees, 34.2 cents for 36 months; for the aluminum workers, 35.08 cents for 36 months; for the Kaiser employees, 20.4 cents for 20 months.

We must not be misled. It would be irony bordering on the tragic if the confusion itself became the inflation spur.

Pay Increases Approved at Little Chute

Assessor, Trustee And President Get Boosts in Salary

Little Chute—Pay increases for village officials were approved at the board meeting Tuesday night.

Increased was the assessor from $800 to $900 per year, trustees from $300 to $350 annually and president from $500 to $550 per year.

In December the board approved a 6 per cent hike for other village employees.

President Paul Kostka said, "I think we have been more than fair with our increases compared to those granted by industries in the area. Naturally, because of the size of the village and our budget we cannot pay the wages that some other communities do."

The finance and committee reported that to date $55,020 in personal property taxes has been collected by the clerk - treasurer. Real estate collection have amounted to $4,060 and special assessments, $3,121.

Building inspector Henry Dercks issued his annual report to the board and said 22 new homes had been built in the village in 1959.

The village voted to pay a special assessment charge of $68.75 against the Jacob Copus post of the American Legion. The charge was for a concrete apron on the Legion property on N. Grand avenue near the village hall. The Legion owns the property but allows the village to use it as a public parking lot. The concrete apron was of no benefit to the post and would not have been installed had it not been for the parking area.

A petition for a street light at the corner of Hoover and N. Buchanan street was received from R. R. Bruyette. It was referred to the street committee for study.

Bayorgeon Will Seek 8th Term In Kaukauna

Mayor Joins Two Others in Seeking City's Chief Office

Kaukauna — Mayor Joseph Bayorgeon took out nomination papers for reelection from the city clerk's office Tuesday thus creating a 3-way race for the office.

Bayorgeon, 113 D o t y street, will be seeking his eighth term in office, having first been elected in 1946. The mayor is owner of the Bowling bar.

The mayor is currently a member of the executive committee of the League of Wisconsin municipalities and is chairman of the state utility commission. Early in 1959 he was the leader in organizing utilities to oppose proposed rate hikes by the Wisconsin Michigan Power company.

Other Candidates

A 3-way race for Fourth ward aldermanic post and a 2-way race for supervisor of the same ward developed when two candidates took out papers Tuesday.

Michael S. Niesz, 216 E. Fifteenth street, took out papers for alderman. He is employed as an equipment operator for Van Daelwyk Construction company and this will be his first try for political office.

Clyton Van Dyke, 328 E. Eighth street, will seek the post of Fourth ward supervisor. He is partner and manager of the Vaudette theater. This is his second try for office, having run for alderman in 1958.

Fined for Speeding

Little Chute — Arthur Seefeldt, 23, 812 Jackson street, Little Chute, was found guilty of speeding when arraigned before Anton Jansen, justice of the peace, Monday, and was fined $20.

Ike's Budget Attempt to Cut Inflation

Requests Less Than in '59 Despite Growing Costs

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — The average man will not take the time or the trouble to analyze the president's budget. He will read instead the comments of the partisan critics — those who say the proposed expenditures aren't high enough and those who say the proposed expenditures are too high. Lawrence using a surplus to wipe out some of the public debt is impractical and that the money should be spent for all sorts of projects. There certainly will not be a surplus if the "spenders" have their way. When the budget comes to congress, the problem is too often viewed from the standpoint of partisan gain or loss. When the president declares that he expects a budget surplus of $4.2 billion and that this should be applied to a reduction of the public debt, the skeptics immediately say there will be no such surplus. Others think it is a mistake to cut down the debt and that more money should be spent on either defense or public welfare.

A federal budget is at best a compromise. Members of congress represent particular districts or states, and many of these legislators do not look at a budget from the national standpoint. Only the chief executive seems to express that viewpoint.

Lower Request
The best way to describe the new proposal for the coming fiscal year, which begins July 1, is to call it a hold-the-line budget. It is amazing that the proposed budget of expenditures has been held down to $79.8 billion as compared with $78.6 billion for the fiscal year ending June 30.

The 1959 budget was for $80.7 billion, so there is something of a reduction to be noted in the course of the two fiscal years. The 1959 budget, moreover, had to take care of a deficit due to the recession.

Mr. Eisenhower feels since business has recovered, the excess of tax receipts over expenses should be applied to the public debt. He says:

"Unless some amounts are applied to the reduction of debt in prosperous periods, we can expect an ever larger public debt if future emergencies or recessions again produce deficits."

"In times of prosperity, such as we anticipate in the coming year, sound fiscal and economic policy requires a budget surplus to help counteract inflationary pressures, to ease conditions in capital and credit markets, and to increase the supply of savings available for the productive investment so essential to continued economic growth."

Nowhere in the president's message is there a detailed discussion of the effects of inflation on government costs, but there has been steady increase in the annual budgets because prices of the same quantity of articles now are substantially higher than before.

Defense Budget

In national defense, the new budget is just a small amount higher than last year. Yet the increased costs to the government due to inflation constitute a sizeable amount. This means that the government must cut down on what it buys in order to keep within the same limits of expenditures. The defense budget is around $41 billion. There are critics who think the military budget should have no limits. But if budget limitations were disregarded, the net result of such a course would be to weaken the whole economic structure not only of this country but of the free world.

With the invention of destructive weapons of the nuclear type it isn't so important to argue about how many more millions of people can be destroyed by more weapons but to come to a decision as to whether the existing defense power is adequate as a deterrent against another nation's armament. The collective judgment of military men plus the best appraisal possible based on intelligence information from other countries is available to the president, who makes the final decision.

The budget doesn't contain all that congress may want to see spent. But unless limits are placed by the president are respected, the result can be more inflation and a consequent rise in prices not only for the general public but for the government's own purchases. That's why the hold-the-line philosophy has been adopted by the administration as the best possible course under the circumstances.

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"

New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials for normal regularity.

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge. Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may cause gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and irritate the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new COLONAB gives you a special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).

8-Man Team to Study UW Extension Sites

Brown County Board Requests Work be Finished, Report Made in 30 Days

Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay — The Brown county board has unanimously authorized creation of an 8-man study committee to report within 30 days on sites and cost estimates for a new University of Wisconsin extension center here.

The committee is to report to the board's education and finance committees, sponsors of the resolution for the study.

The committee would be made up of three rural members of the board, three Green Bay aldermen and Board Chairman James Francois and Mayor Denisissen. Francois will name non-Green Bay members of the committee and Denisissen the aldermen.

Supv. Cecil Depeau of the town of Green Bay questioned whether one month was adequate for the study assignment. He said three months might be better. He also said that he thought a referendum should be held on the question of a new building.

30 Days Adequate

Supv. Irvin Van Beek, town of Bellevue, chairman of the education committee, said 30 days was adequate for the assignment. It is urgent that another structure replace the present temporary wartime building which houses the UW center, he said.

Dr. Roman J. Zorn, extension center director here, described the present building as "one of the most overcrowded, overworked educational buildings, not only in Brown county but in the whole state."

Described Conditions

Dr. Zorn described conditions in what students call "cardboard tech", where two or three members must share one office desk, where 28 pails are used to catch water from a leaking roof, and where the threat of fire is always present.

"If an inspector from the industrial commission goes through that building, I'll take a reasonable bet he will condemn it in 20 minutes," Zorn said. Dr. Zorn illustrated with charts that enrollment has risen from 114 students in 1951, after the crush of GI bill students, to a present enrollment of 377. This is an increase of 300 per cent in the last six years, making the Green Bay center the second largest in Wisconsin.

Scout Council Purchases Land

1,230 Acres Near Ashland Will be Girls' Campsite

Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay — Purchase of 1,230 acres of land in Bayfield county as a Bay Area Girl Scout council campsite was announced Tuesday by Mrs. Goldie Duquaine, council president. The price was $74,000.

The land had been a private estate the last 29 years, owned by P.M. Beach, Eau Claire, and former Kaukauna resident.

The campsite is about 45 miles south of Ashland, adjacent to state and federal forests. It is near the Chequamegon National forest.

Approximately 850 acres is wooded, including 90 acres in virgin timber of spruce, hemlock, yellow birch and maple.

George M. Beach was among the first residents of Brillion, and in 1871 gave impetus to the future growth of Brillion when he opened a sawmill. He is the father of P. M. Beach, owner of the land just sold to the Bay Area Scout council.

Beach was a member of the Kaukauna High school football team that defeated Milwaukee in 1906 to win the state championship. He graduated from the University of Wisconsin law school in 1914.

Youth Fined $20; Ordered to Stay Away From Girl

An 18-year-old rural Bear Creek youth, apparently jealous of attention given his former girl friend by other persons, Tuesday was fined $20 for disorderly conduct and ordered by Judge Oscar J. Schmieg to stay away from the girl.

Gary Affeldt pleaded no contest to the charge.

Sheriff's Lt. Jack Frenz told the court Affeldt had made trouble for persons who attempted to talk to the girl.
